Dear Carole Ann,

If you and Gerald don't "tie the knot" pretty soon, you are going to be outdated. Everyone is doing it, so it must be nice. I like it anyway.

I have really enjoyed knowing you the past years, and I hope I will know you for many more. You and Gerald must come and see us very soon.

You are really one of the sweetest girls I have ever known. I wish you all the happiness and success in the world.

Lots of luck always,

Bette Lasater

(Mrs. Leon Lasater)

(August 17 isn't far off. You had better start getting packed now. It's easier than waiting until the last minute. ☺ know !!!

We'll see you on your honeymoon !!! Oh, yes we will !!!

DENTON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Denton, Texas

TO MRS. OPAL HALL . . .

friend, teacher and confidante, the 1957 Bronco is dedicated in a combination of all the love she has engendered in students of past years . . . and the love we know she will inspire in students yet to take places in her classroom in years to come.

Her performance through the years has not been a mere teaching chore at Denton High School. Hers has been a self-imposed duty to inspire, enlighten and bring out the finest in everyone whose privilege it has been to know her . . .

Dedication

. . . whether surrounded by her students at her off-periods . . .

. . . or standing before her classes dealing with the formal matter of the text!

God bless you, Opal Hall, teacher extraordinary!

Buildings

Above is pictured Denton Senior High School as we've known it all year long. However, the swarm of activity in the field pictured below, shot last June when it first began, will change all that next year. The workmen are in the preliminary phases of constructing the new Fulton Street Building.

Dream of the Not-Too-

To cost approximately one and one-third million dollars, this modern building will be occupied by Denton High School students and faculty by September, 1957. A generous public voted the bond appropriation for the "dream building" in the Fall of 1955. Designed to house some 1,000 students, the plant will expand through the addition of wings and annexes to accommodate, eventually, about 3,000.

Distant Future

Double-purpose parking facilities have been planned, which should cure headaches of long standing. Not only will the large lots accommodate students' and faculty's automobiles during the day, but will serve the needs of spectators attending games in the new gymnasium, or at the football and baseball fields, which will remain in their present locations, across Fulton Street, to the East of the building.

FACULTY

Commercial Arts

The Commercial Arts faculty is "manned" by Mrs. Lucille Ray, Mrs. Judy Hudson, Mrs. Cecile McKelvey and Mrs. Virginia Moore. These good ladies teach a variety of subjects to the neophyte business men and women, including typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and general business methods. Here they're pictured in an after-school session at which student needs and problems are discussed, as well as teaching problems.

Two Commercial Arts mob scenes — with student teacher Johnson presiding in the left-hand view, which is a shorthand class. At right is a class in judo where students are taught to hold down desk jobs.

Jerry O'Rear recoils in fright over the copy confronting him in typing. Shirley Vaughn, Mrs. Ray, Eddie Savage and Willena Meeker pretend not to notice. Right: Mrs. Spears substitutes in shorthand.

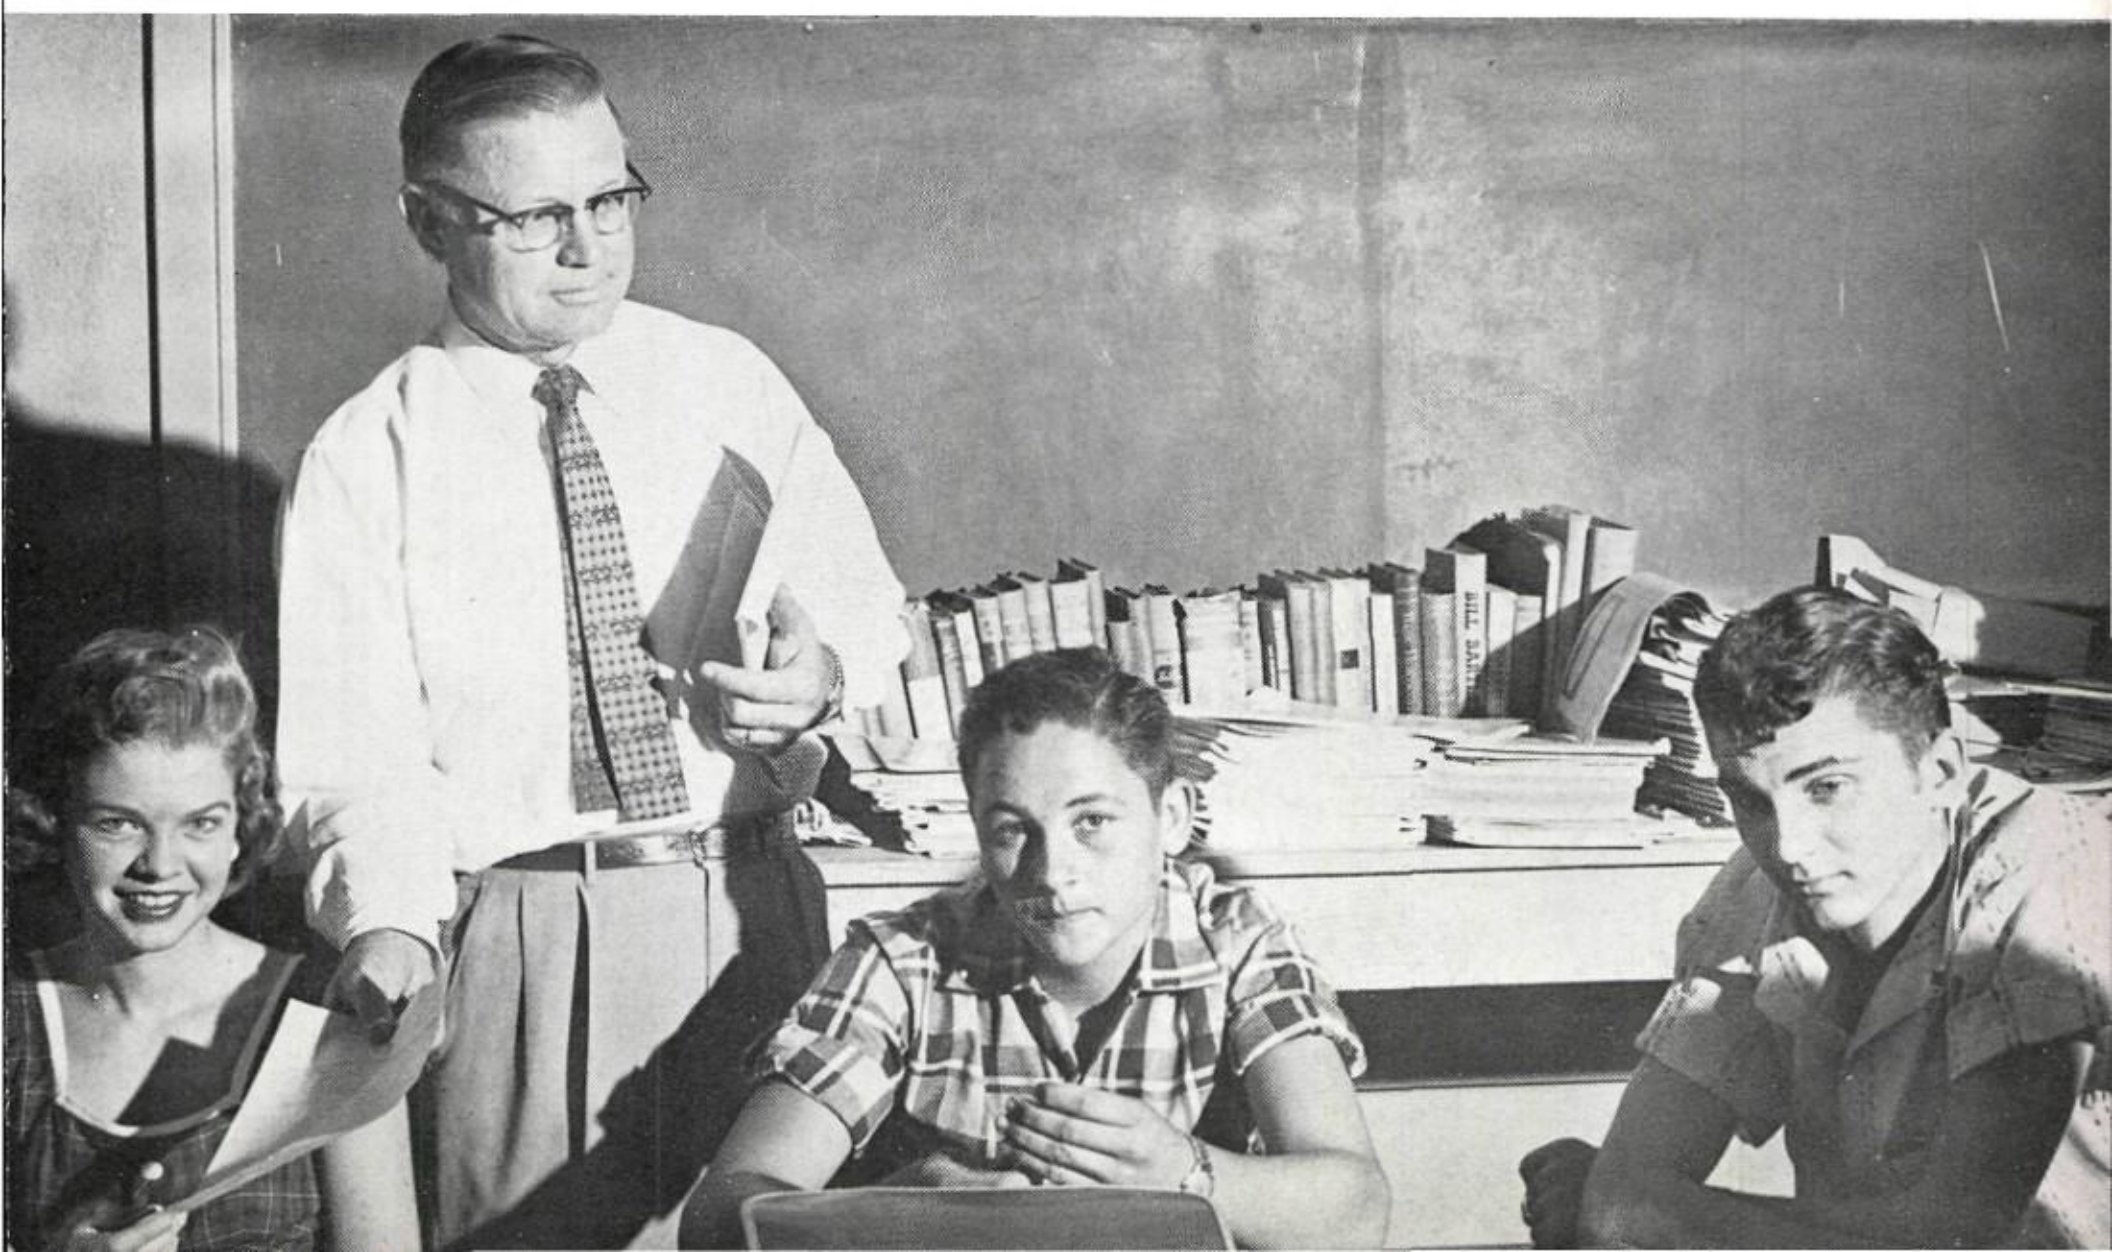
Left: The DE classes pitch in and help with the packaging and distribution of 1956 Xmas seals at the welfare office. Right: Kathy Brown demonstrates that money changers are welcomed in some places. Her job: open it without the bell's ringing!

Distributive Education, taught and supervised at Denton High School by Homer Bronstad, is a new concept in education. Students attend regular high school classes half of each day, then go to jobs which they either obtained for themselves, or which were gotten for them through the program. Local businessmen who participate in the DE program have nothing but high praise for the kind of employees furnished to them from the classes. Below, Homer Bronstad, director of the program, passes out materials to DE students Mary Bowers, Gerald Coggeshall, Rocky Montgomery.

Distributive Education



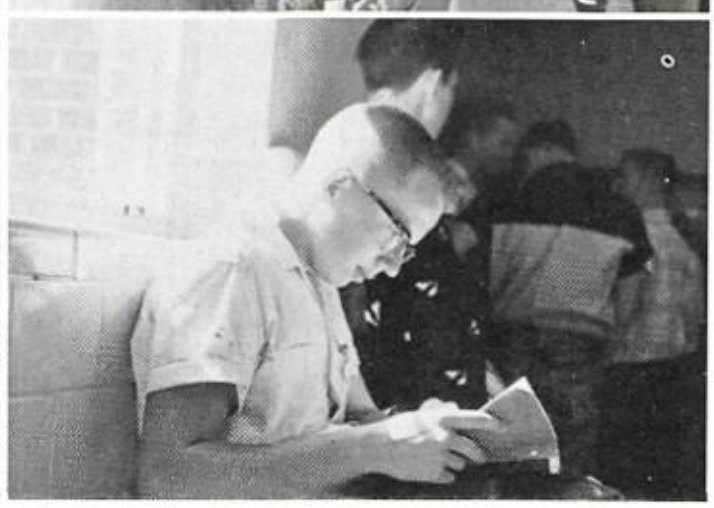
Driver Education

Good drivers are born—then perfected with good training. Coach Vern Lane stepped into the Driver Education slot this year, replacing Doyle Chrisman, who was kicked upstairs into the principal's job over at Sam Houston Elementary. Above, Lane demonstrates on a scale-model intersection the difficulties you can get into for Frances Blankenship, Retha Christopher, Larry Harn and Nolan Bell. This is one of many "dry run" techniques which Lane, who doubles in brass as basketball mentor and HE instructor.

Two other kinds of "dry run" techniques to better driving are demonstrated by Paul Rippe, Joy Gail Clearman, Nancy Chambers, Eva Jane Wright, and Lloyd Justus.

At last, we get behind the wheel of that fire engine red '57 Ford Bill Utter sent over. About to take to the highway are Imogene Owens, Billie Harvill, Barbara Carter, Lenonia Starr and Mr. Lane. Right: Now that we're back, let's inspect the damage.

"This is a workable situation." And Ann Harris, Mike Smith, Nana Pearce, Judy Colwell and Lewis Bush prove to Miss McElroy it isn't. Right: Standing on the corner, watching all the girls go by.



Patsy Smith, Jane Bell, Sandy Trickey, show that you can't let up a minute when those English assignments are due. These two unrehearsed, unposed shots depict a little noon-hour cramming in which the three hope to condense 5½ weeks' work.

The mother tongue gets its due share of emphasis at Denton High School in subjects which range between, in and among basic grammar, Shakespeare, letter writing, the Brownings—in short the literary greats and the rudiments of the language—the utilitarian and the cultural aspects of living. Below is pictured the English faculty of DHS: Mrs. Mary Elaine Sullivan, Mrs. Virginia Blair, Miss Eulah McElroy (head of the department), Mrs. Kate Smoot, Miss Sabra Parsons, Mrs. Opal Hall, Doug Bennett (whose chief duties lie in the publications department) and Mrs. Catherine Shuford.

English

French

The language of diplomats is taught by Mrs. Virginia Blair, who also speaks English (see preceding page). Mrs. Blair is a great believer in the use of audio and visual aids in teaching her students a "practical knowledge of French." However, she doesn't skimp the cultural angle, and the best of French literature at least has a nodding acquaintance with DHS grads when they go out of school to careers and college. Above she's pictured spinning discs for Retha Christopher and Linda Ford.

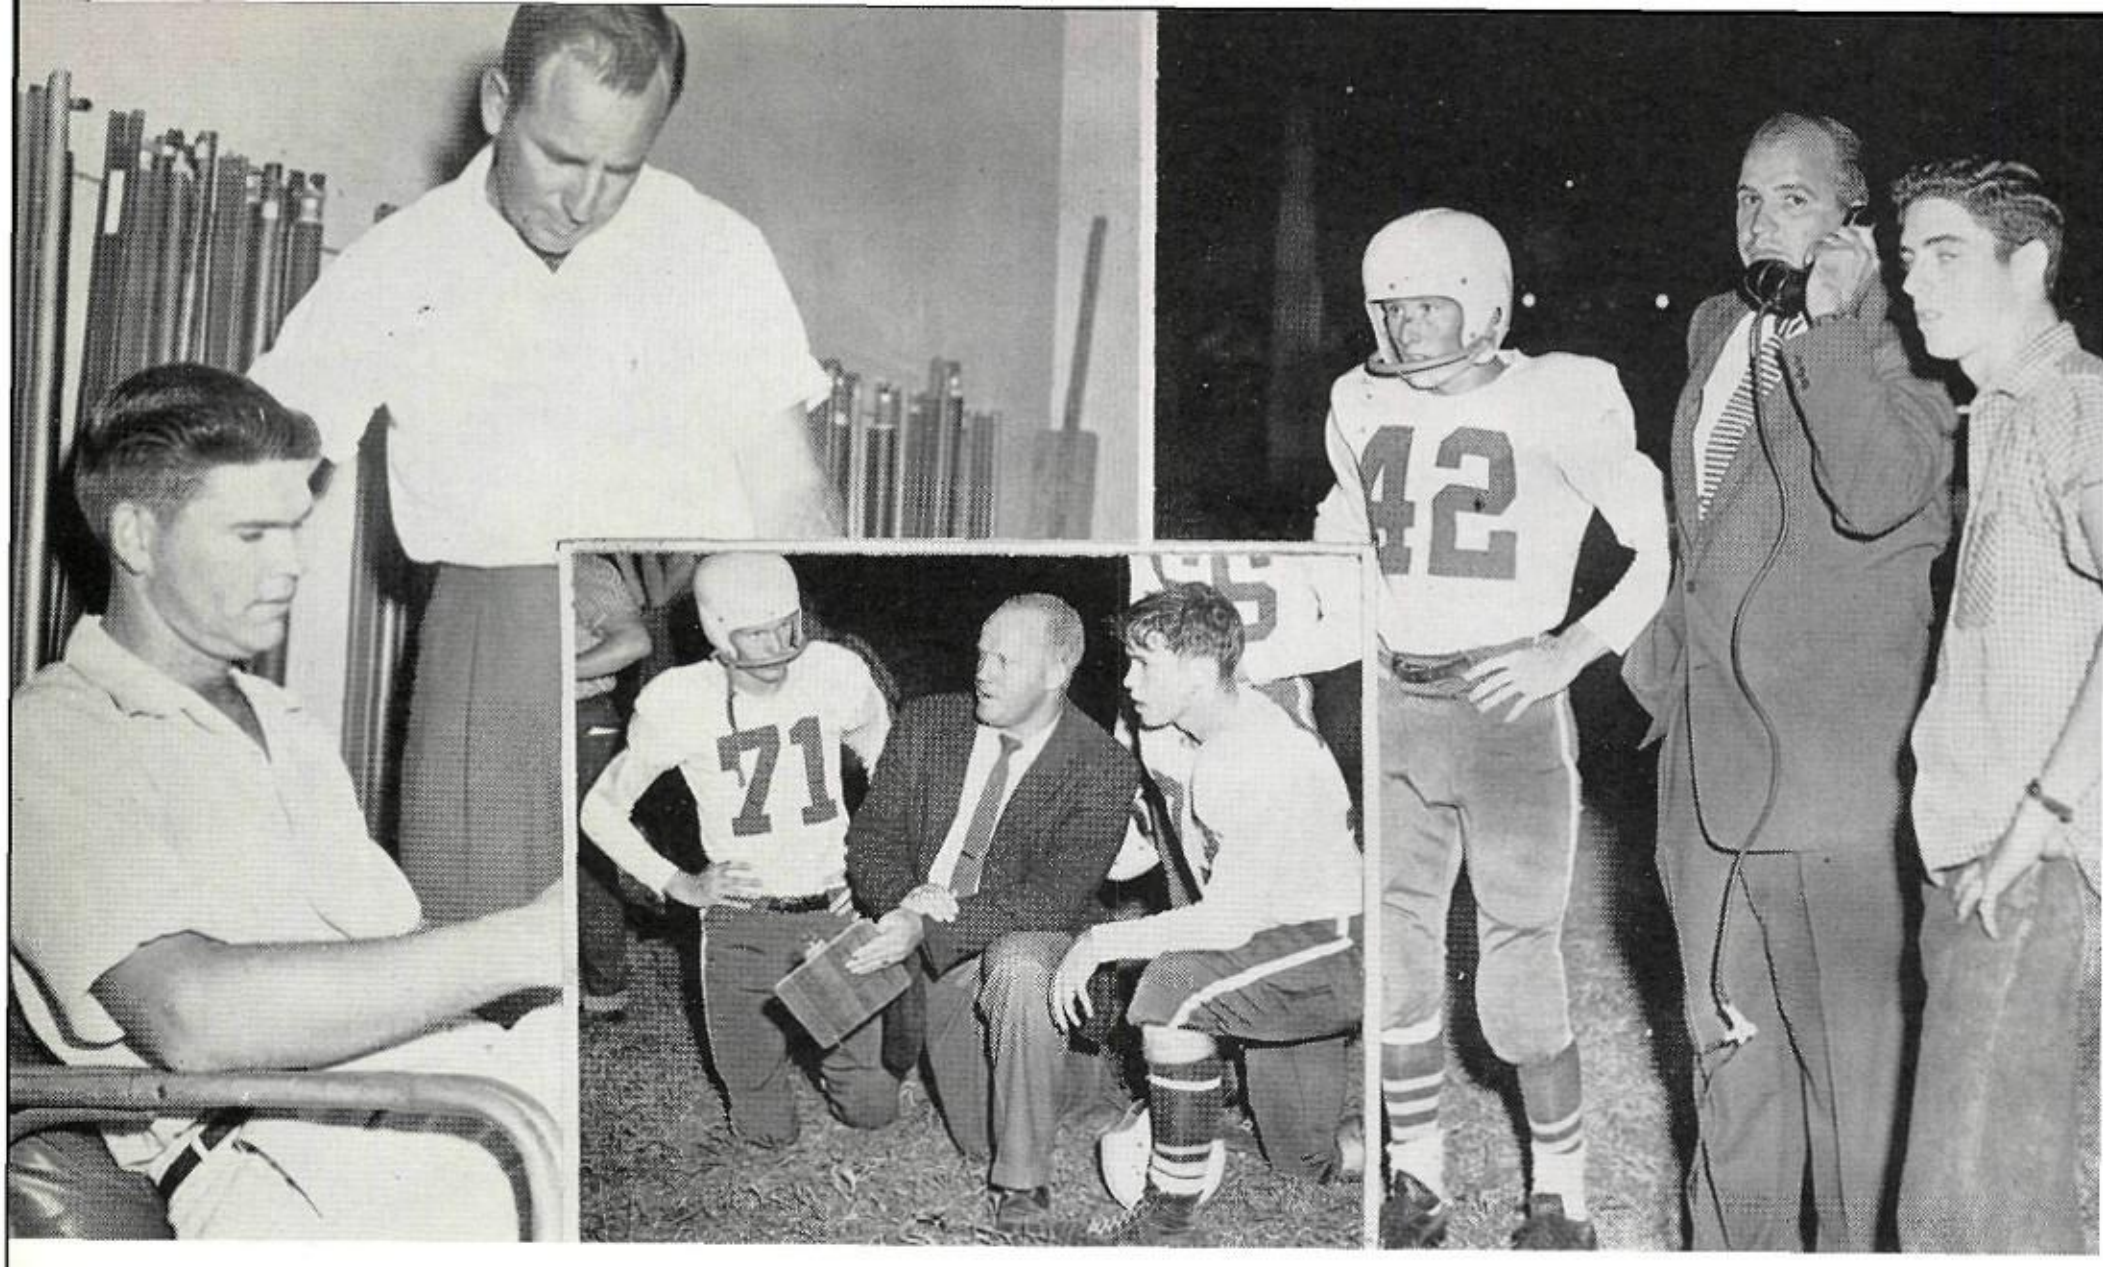
And, Mrs. Blair again, taking things easy and informal, which, we're told, is a great part of her charm.

With a School Nurse, it isn't all throat swabbin' and iodine painting. There's paper work, too. And then at far right, Mrs. Dibble is pictured in one of her daily tussles with office records, while Pat Lambert looks unconcerned.

Part of Mrs. Dibble's chores at DHS will make her feet flat. Here she supervises the Honor Society scholarship tests. At far right, Barbara Grimes tidies up the joint where she assists Mrs. McIntire, RN.

At Denton High School, Mrs. Mildred McIntire checks a student's eyeballs in a matter of routine. Among her many other duties, Mrs. Mc must attend to students who fall ill at school, follow through until they're back in class and see to the general health welfare of the whole school district. Below right: Ed Cook and Johnny Clark are pictured checking schedules and graduation requirements with Mrs. Maxie Dibble, DHS guidance counselor. It's Mrs. Dibble who sees to it that students take what they need when they need it. We understand she also runs a real sharp algebra class on the side.

Guidance, School Nurse



Boys' Health and Physical Education

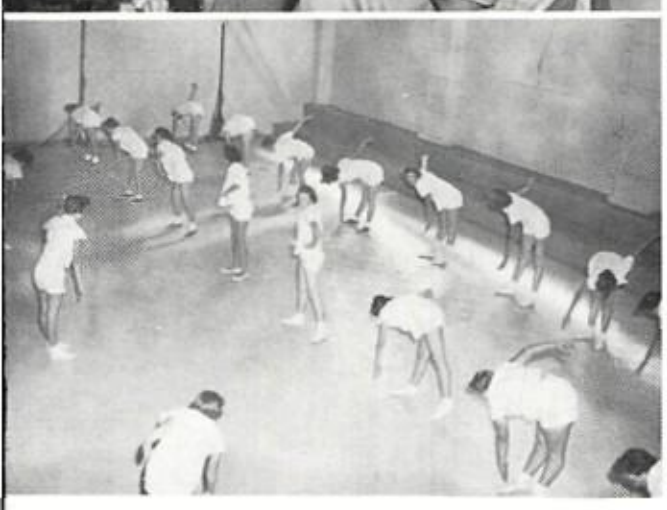
Vern Lane tapes a trick ankle for a Bronco player—and then, after a hard session of body English on the side lines, a well-deserved rest.



Miss Wells (back to camera) specializes in the round table discussion when plying her trade as Girls' Health education teacher. Here, she's in session with Rosemary Lockhart, Linda Spaulding, Margaret Mitchell, Judy Colwell, Ann Harris, Jane Willingham, Oleta McNary, Judy Prideaux, Mary Ann Lockhart, Isabella Gibson.

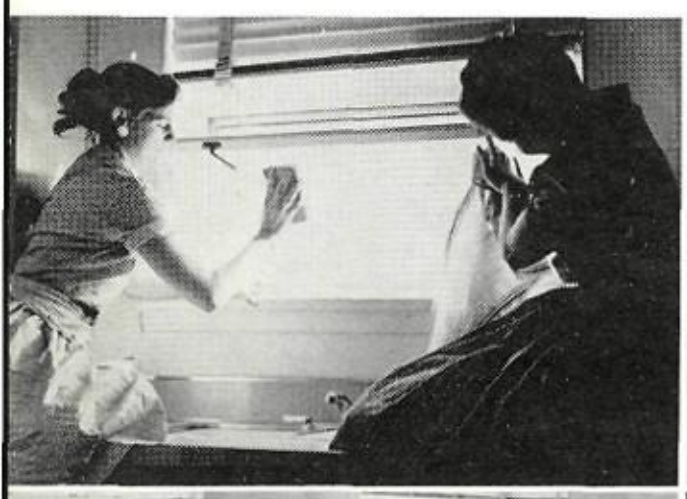
Girls' PE builds strong bodies and teaches coordination. Annabelle Allen tells first aid experts Sandra Dean and Laura Ballard "It only hurts when I laugh."

As in the case of Boys' PE and HE, the chief aims of Mrs. Frances Melton and Miss Joanna Wells, Jr., are to teach the girls to care for their health and welfare, to better understand the workings and functions of the human body and to develop athletic skills and abilities. Mrs. Melton and Miss Wells are pictured in a classroom situation with Oleta McNary, Doris Shelton, Shirley Harper and Kay Milliken.

Girls' Health and Physical Education

Homemaking

"Homemaking" is a word that requires no definition. It means just that—making a home. In that department, Denton High School is twice-blessed with the services of Mrs. Frances Baker and Mrs. Veneta Young. Here the mysteries of cooking, sewing and general good home management are explored and conquered. Above, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Young, both standing, hold an informal session with Saundra Caldwell, Jowauna Gregory, Sandra Neale and Bernice Brown.



Like, f'instance, window shampooing—which is what Coleen Swanson and Beverly McDaniel are engaged in which—and sewing—a task which preoccupies Joanna Wells and Judy Carlisle, complete with a headful of confetti (not essential to the domestic art).

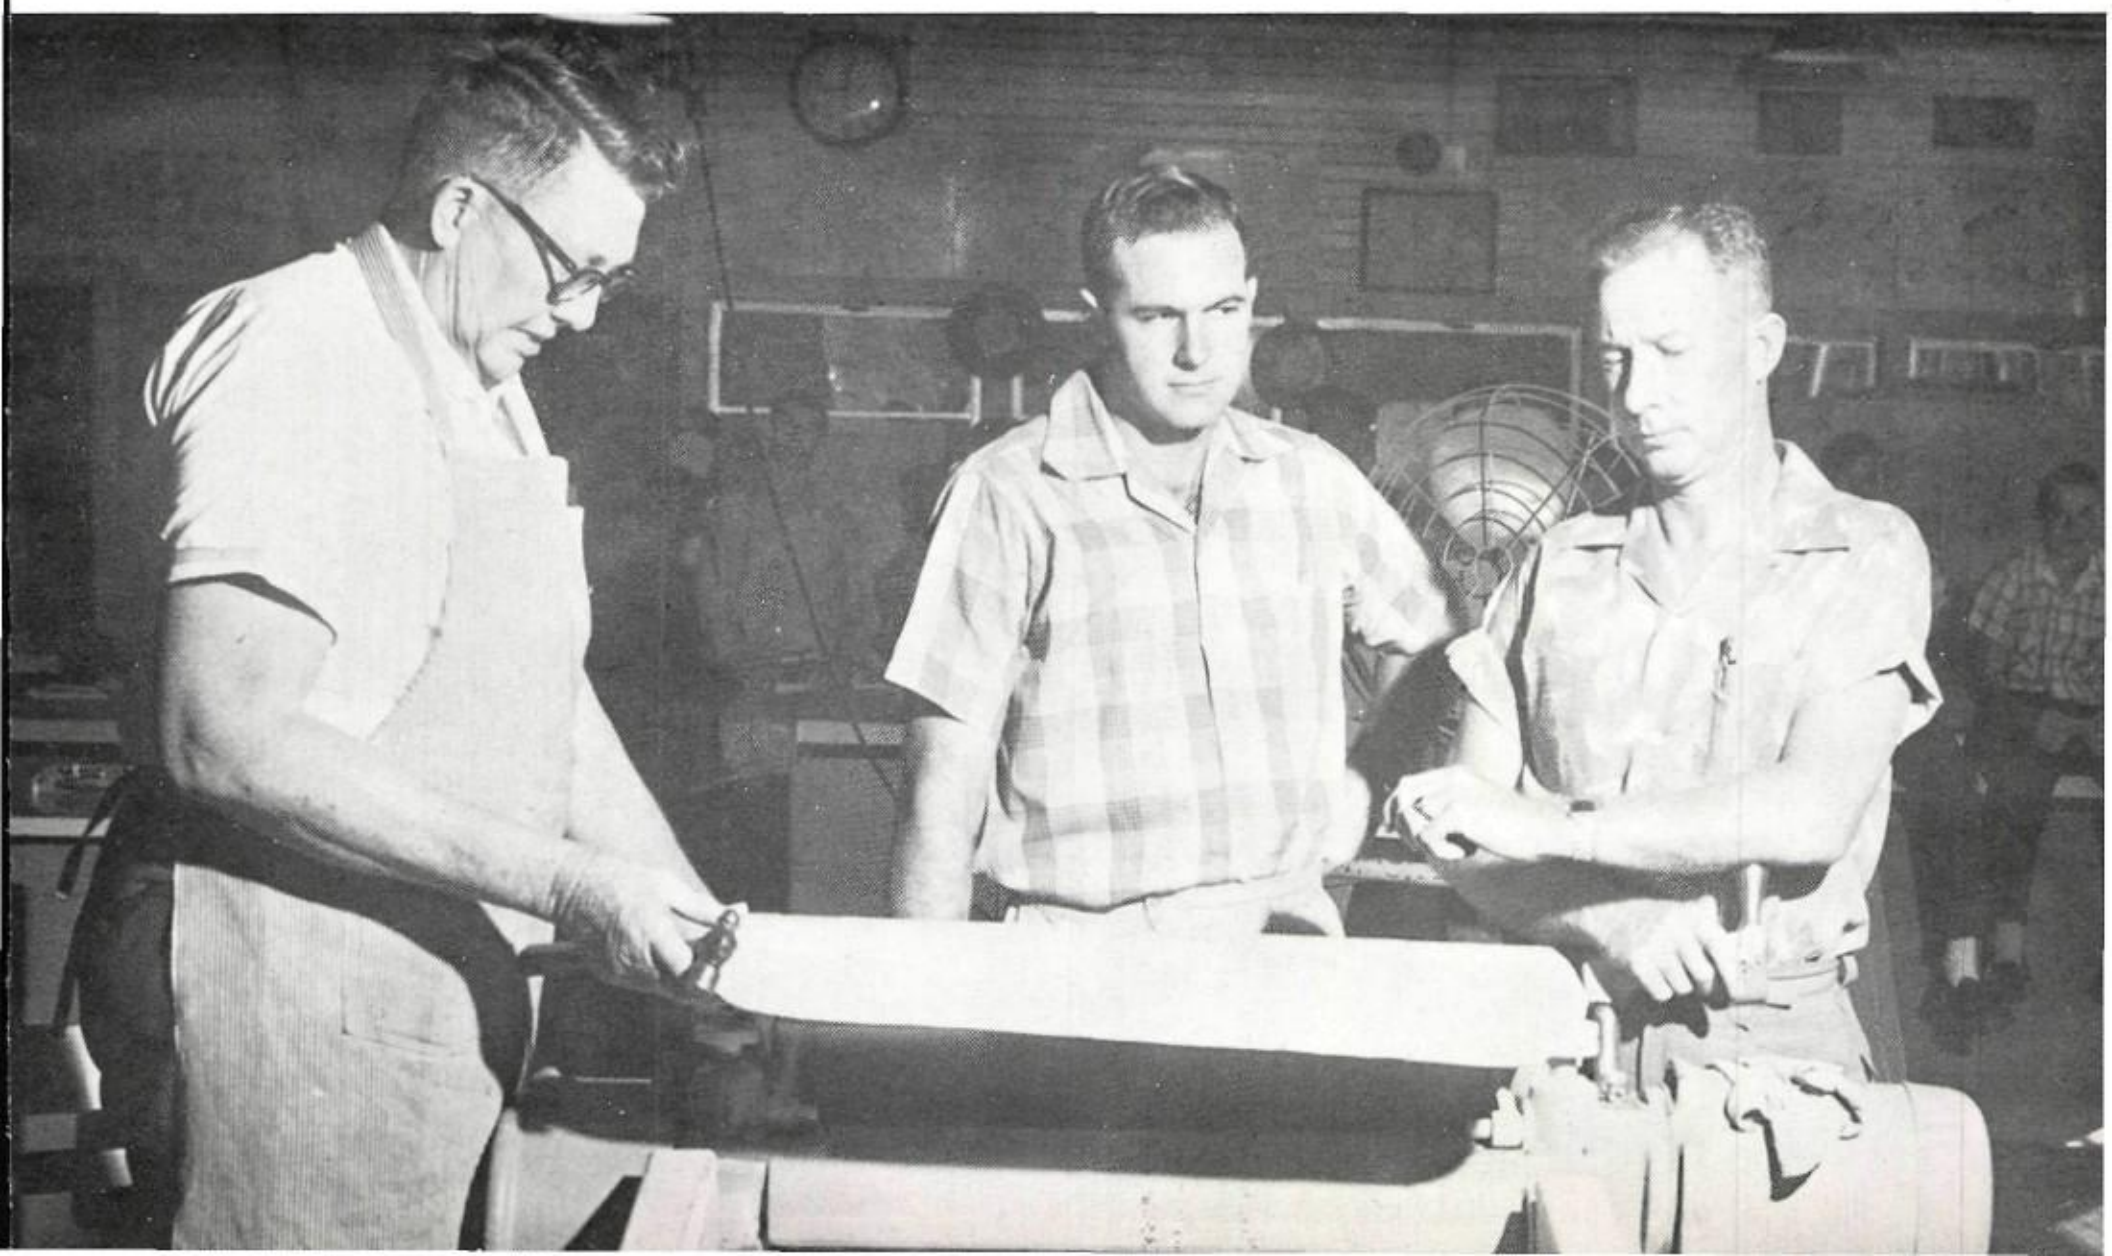
Industrial Arts teacher Roy Bird shows Eugene Taylor and Jarvis Kell how to hand-feed a plank into the planer and have only the plank emerge on the other side. Right: Mechanical drawing class at work.

Joanna Wells, Loveta Jones, Pat Lambert, Barbara Carter and Marilyn Howard gather 'round for a lesson in leather craft from Mr. Park. Right: Eugene Taylor, Bill (Lefty) Scott and Dale Vaughn are engaged in an exercise of finger bone amputating on the power saw.

Some Denton housewives of the future, when their do-it-yourself spouses begin driving them whacky pounding and sawing in the basement in the evening while they try to watch "John's Other Wife" on the TV, will be able to thank the guiding hands of C. C. Jones, Dallas Park and Roy Bird for inspiration furnished. The trio of industrial arts instructors (below) represent practically a brain trust where the use of tools is concerned. Incidentally, Jones is quite a hand on the farm, too.

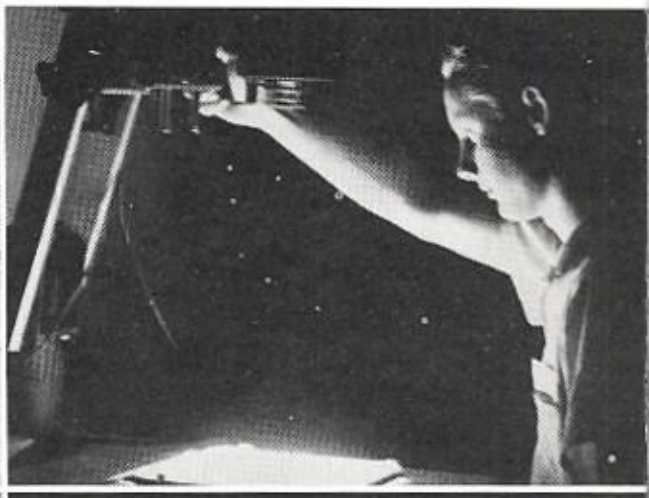
Industrial Arts



Journalism

When journalism teacher Doug Bennett (above, right) can't be found in that incredible Room 104, nor in the darkroom, his office or the building, it's pretty safe to reckon he's at Terrill Wheeler Printing Co., sweating out the Horseshoe. Above Bennett is pictured with Wheeler, center, and printer Bob Burgoon, admiring the product of their toil. The Horseshoe, second-year journalism lab project, is published bi-monthly (holidays and six-weeks tests permitting) by students of Denton High School.

Every effort is made to have the Horseshoe ready to distribute at the end of assemblies on Fridays. Here Ginger Pearce is swamped with demands for the sheet. Right: Those amazingly good sports shots in the Horseshoe and the Bronco are the work, generally, of Johnny Clark, pictured at work in the darkroom.



Making Susie Shields blush is a popular indoor sport with journalism students. Right: Bronco and Horseshoe members visit the Dallas Morning News.

Mrs. Kaye Hanley returned to the scene of the crime this year and was shot chatting with Ann Wells and Linda Roberts. Right: Judd Holt and Laura Ballard blushingly acknowledge cheers from the populace.

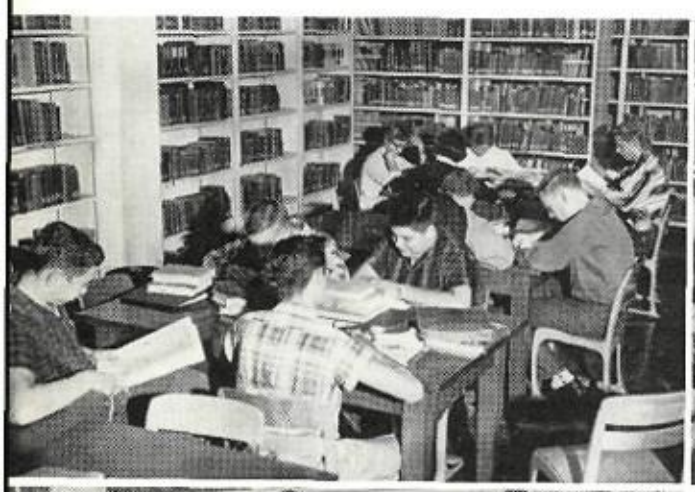
Homecoming, the Latin Department was ready with a float for the parade. Boarding same are Josephine Hutcheson, Ann Harris, Peggy Schluter, Pat Moore, Jean Kirkpatrick and Ann Myers.

Succeeding Kaye Hanley in the Latin Department this year is Mrs. L. F. Connell (standing below). The popular teacher makes every effort to prevent the dead languages becoming just that—dead. A variety of activities, researches, exercises and projects help make the study a lively, interesting one, as is evidenced by the continued popularity of Latin under the new regime of Mrs. Connell.

Latin

Library

It's always a pleasure to do business with the library, so ably operated by Mrs. Helen Swenson and her corps of assistants. Here (above) Jack Kerestine and Sandra Jones are helped by Mrs. Swenson and Jowauna Gregory. Although the library is better than average for the school enrollment—Mrs. Swenson is bursting with plans for improvements when she gets into the new building next year. "There wouldn't be any need to wait," she explains, "but where would we put one more thing in this space!"



Every period the library is a scene of furious, though quiet, activity. Generally, the serious-minded student prefers it to regular study hall. And then, there's the noon hour, when almost every day some group turns it into a banquet hall for meetings.

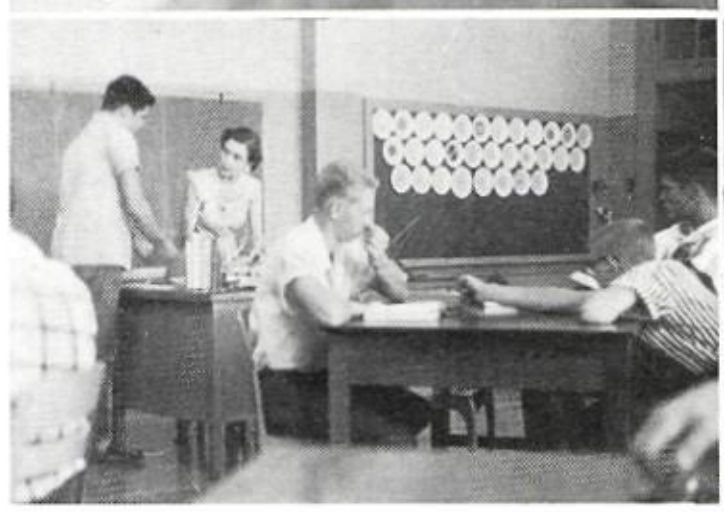
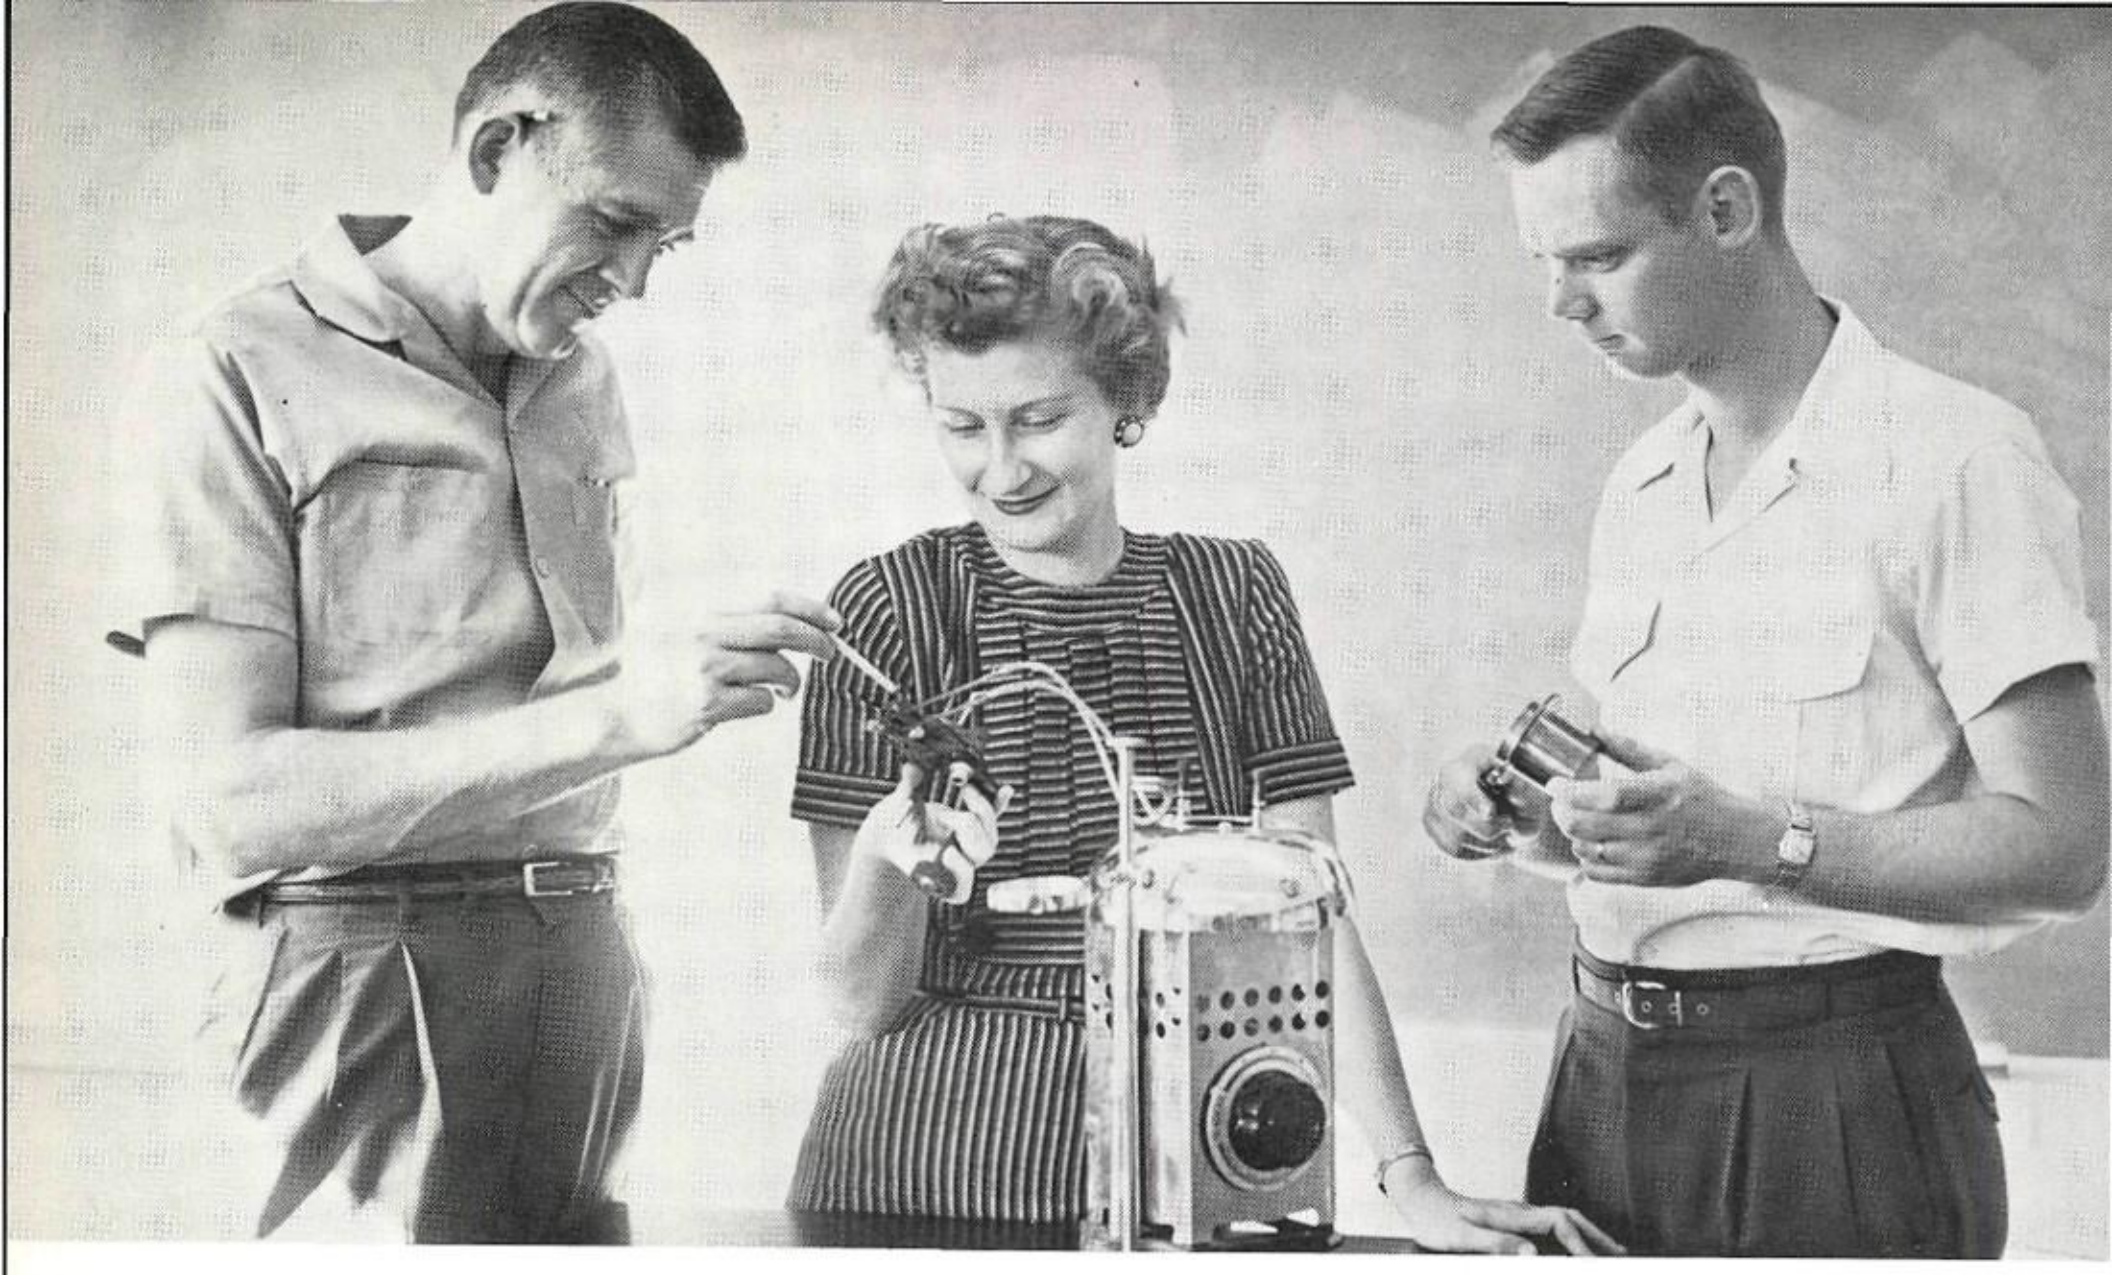
"The basis of all science is mathematics" — which probably explains why more of us are not scientists. In the first picture, Miss Lois Averitt helps a group with geometry—and in the second, Hal Lane, a newcomer to DHS, supervises an algebra class . . .

And so, back to Miss Averitt's classroom, where a one-man committee of inquiry confronts her. And in the shot at far right, Johnny Clark wails: "It was either geometry or me!"



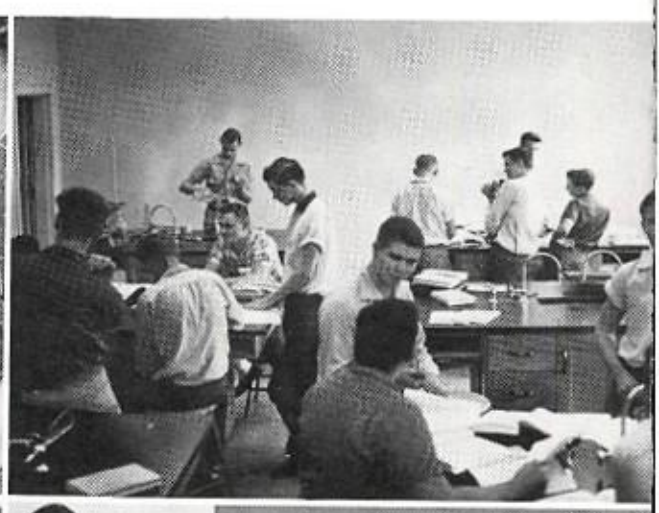
Here's the brain trust that mans (so to speak) the Mathematics Department: Mrs. Maxie Dibble, who also serves as Guidance Counselor, Miss Lois Averitt, department head, Mrs. Tommie Hutchison, Mrs. Theron J. Fouts (whose husband is dean of North Texas State athletics) and Hal Lane, who replaces Joe Wilson this year as algebra and physics instructor. Lane came straight from the Air Force to DHS classes about mid-way during first six weeks.

Mathematics

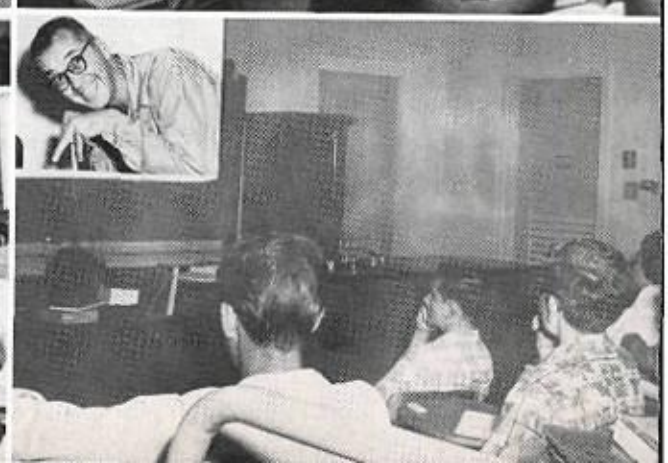


Science

"A good foundation in science is a closer understanding of God." Aristotle said this hundreds of years ago—and only a crackpot would dispute it. Here (above) are three of the most popular teachers in Denton High, who set out each day to demonstrate that truth, R. R. Hyman (titular head of the department), Mrs. Pam Snider and Hal Lane, who brings to DHS a wide background of teaching experience from the Air Force. The gadget they're pondering has something to do with octane rating of gasoline—or something. Anyway, like Lane, it's army surplus.



Science equipment is often delicate, and should be handled with utmost care, as Cleo Morgan, Patsy Chambers, Mike Smith, Nancy Chambers and James Cartwright demonstrate in a weight and balance experiment. At right: general view of the chemistry lab.



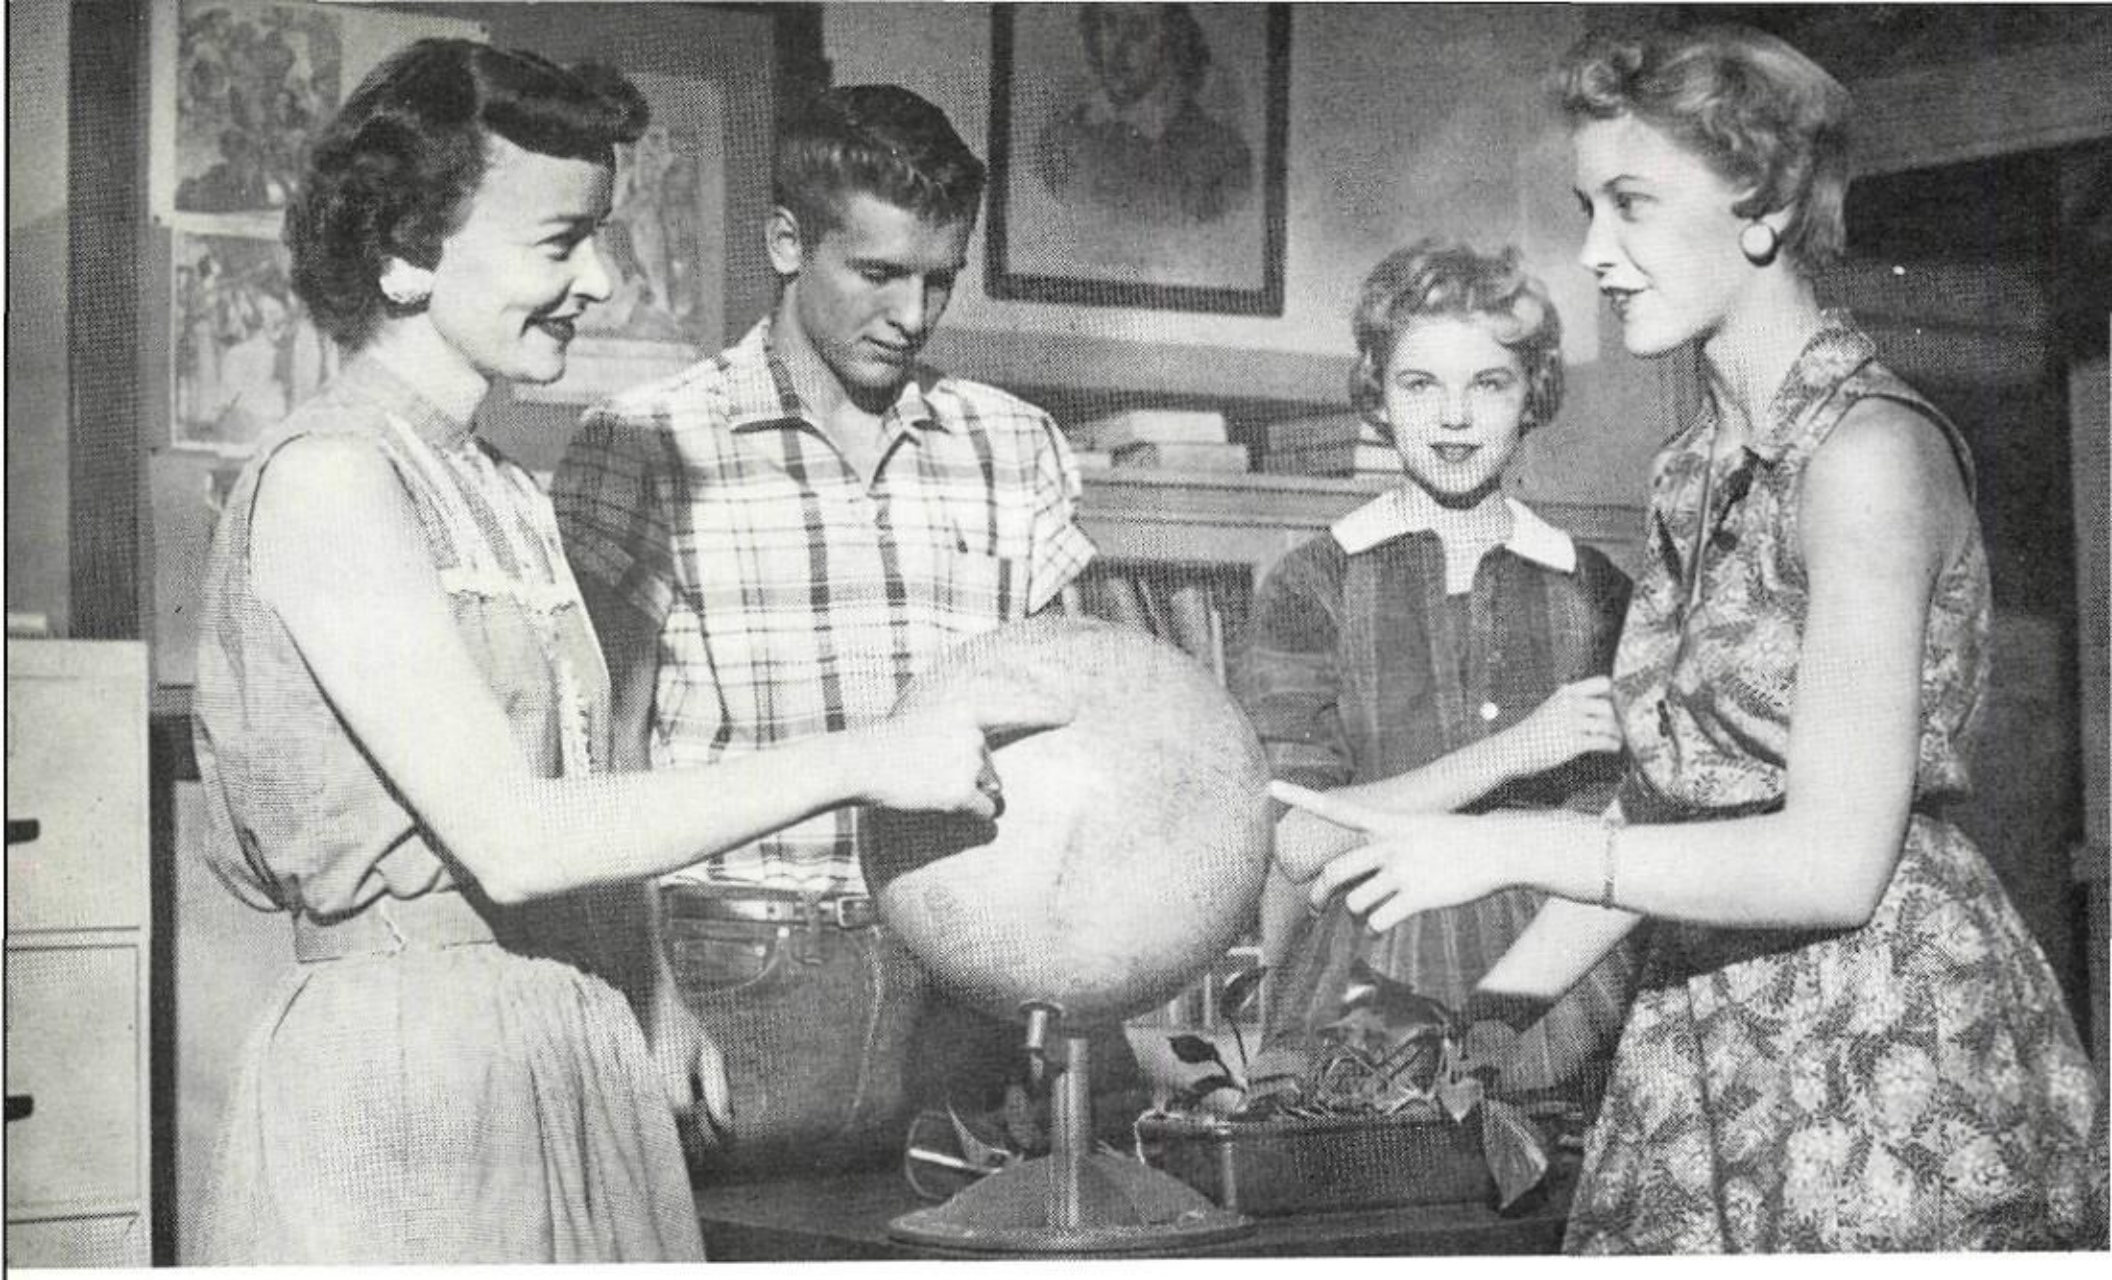
Left: General view of the biology laboratory. Right: a science class views a film titled: "The effects of radio-active fall-out on the unstable personality."

Coach Jim Eaves passes out material to a social science class. In addition to this teaching chore, the versatile teacher teaches health education and coaches football. Mrs. Joyce Gassaway tries to pretend she doesn't notice James Cartwright, while Sandra Myers toils in the background.

And then there's the lunch hour when Eaves flattens his underpinning, policing the cafeteria chow line. Mrs. Betty Boyd, who holds forth, also, in Spanish, has several classes in social science.

And (below) here's the entire social science faculty: Mrs. Joyce Gassaway (who doubles in English), Mrs. Betty Boyd and Coach Jim Eaves. Eaves joined the faculty at mid-term last year, coming from Gainesville, where he and his wife both were teaching. The social science department is one of the few instances in the school where teachers serve in three other distinct fields—Spanish, English, Health Education and Physical Education.

Social Science



Spanish

Mrs. Betty Boyd (above) emphasizes conversational Spanish in her courses—and the conversations she has in mind are south of the border, rather than in remote Castile, a hemisphere away. Here she puts the finger on the Latin American part of the Western Hemisphere for Bobby Batte, Ann Morris and Alice Blair—all students in her first period class.

"When you're in a Spanish class, speak Spanish!" stresses Mrs. Boyd. And it costs to goof, Leroy Moore can testify, as he puts a nickel in the kitty. Below left: Donnetta Ellis and Lynn Hamilton exhibit their project, which includes a household labeled in Spanish, together with familiar tools of the classroom.

Ann Morris is pictured tacking up a Spanish travel folder—just one of many which crowd the walls of Mrs. Boyd's classroom.

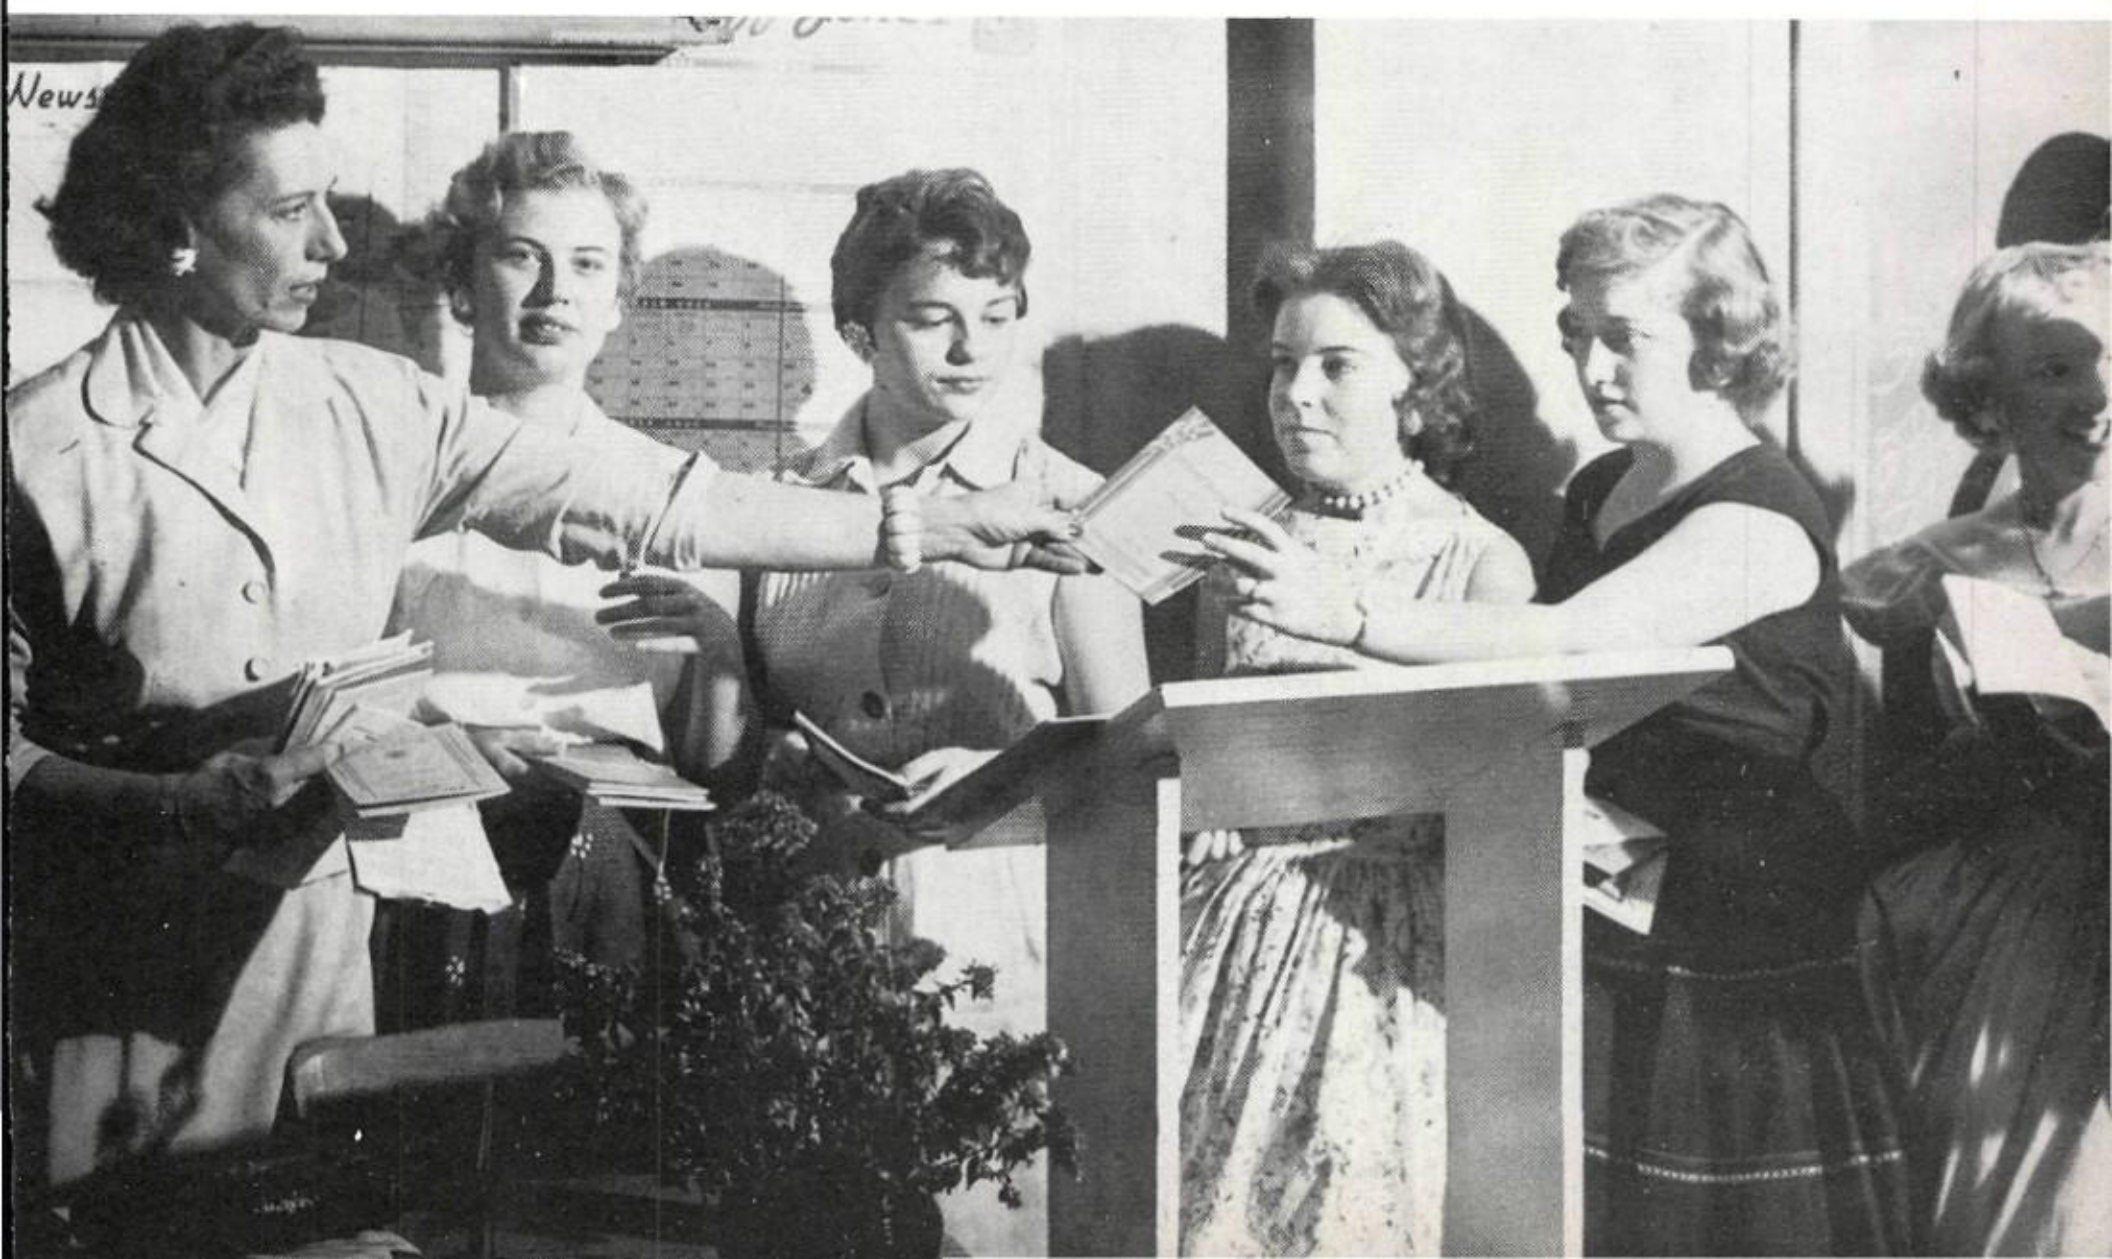
Time out for lunch in 311—a daily affair, during which the subjects of speech and dramatics further are discussed and pursued. Right: Martha James registers "Horror."

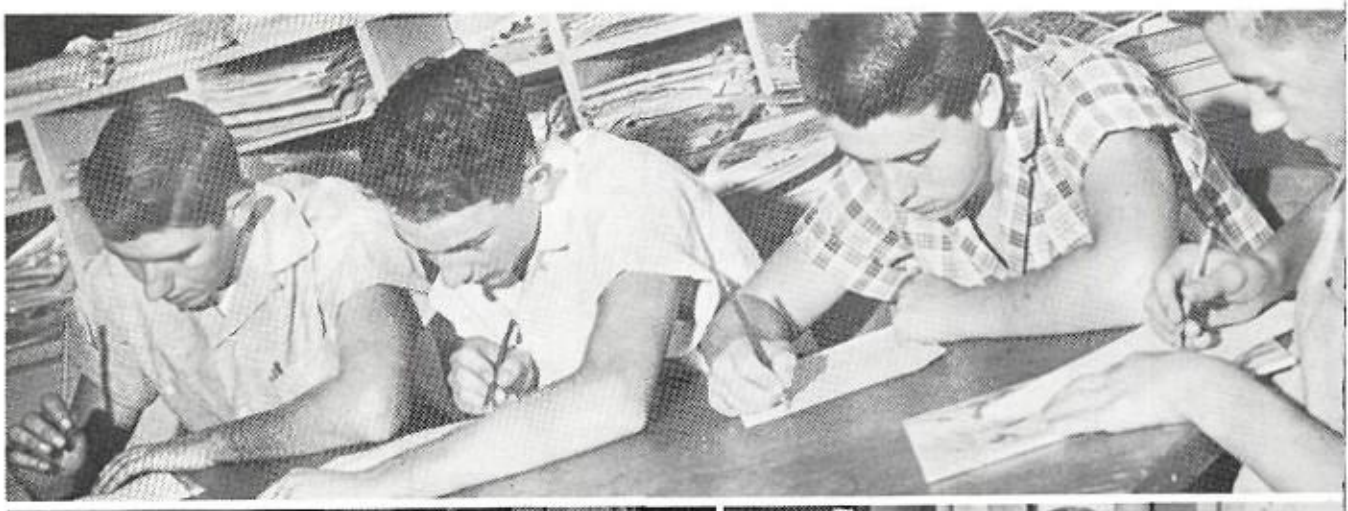
Mrs. Opal Hall, who not only is the head of the Speech and Dramatics Department—but is the Speech and Dramatics Department, passes out parts to students (below). They are Pat Haines, Martha James, Linda Land, Rosemary Weygandt and Susie Shields. Perhaps no other department has brought more favorable attention to Denton High's dramatics and speech department. Every time they hit a tournament, they come back covered with glory and dripping with first place medals. Their trophy case looks like Captain Kidd might have stashed his loot for safekeeping. And with all that hard work, Mrs. Hall's students adore her and fellow faculty members love her. It's no wonder the staff felt Mrs. Hall was the logical choice to whom to dedicate this year's Bronco!

Speech



Vocational Agriculture

Hal Rylander and H. D. Roberts (standing above) head the Vocational Agriculture Department at Denton High School. Between the two, they manage to turn out winning livestock, farm produce and judging teams, year in and year out. Their chapter of Future Farmers of America is one of the state's most outstanding—although you'd never know it, the way they keep it to themselves. Rylander and Roberts are pictured working with Weldon Faught, Bobby Anderson, Jackie Hooten and Ralph Bailey.



Quiet! Conservationists at work. They are Bobby Anderson, Jackie Hooten, Ralph Bailey and Pat Owens.

Mrs. Emma Ruth Russell, at piano, has her hands full this year with music, choir and a couple of study halls. The two shots at left show her in music classes with Metty Massey, Shirley Vaughn, Terry Pettit, Betty Hampton, Shirley Harper, Barbara Davis, Joyce Sparks, and, again, Barbara Davis.

And then, she took on the direction this year of one of the biggest assemblies staged: the Talent Show. In these shots she's shown conferring with schoolwide talent, but mostly with Linda Roberts and Jon Ilgenfritz.

Mrs. Emma Ruth Russell was drawn from the elementary school system of Denton to fill the gap left by the resignation this year of Bob Payne, who sought greener pastures in the Big "D" school system. Here she rehearses members of the A Cappella Chorus, an outstanding group of amateur singers, much in demand at assemblies, special programs and public functions—especially around Christmas and Easter.

Choir

Band

When it comes to bringing home the glory from contests and tournaments, the Bronco Band takes its hat off to no other department in school! Their achievements in the past at the Wichita Falls Marching contest, which was moved to District 4-AAAA at Grand Prairie, stand without equal. Above, Director Carroll McMath puts members through their paces at rehearsal—which begins well before school starts each day and sends members panting down the hill barely in time for first period classes. There's never been a game so good that the Bronco Band's half-time show didn't make it better. In addition to his chores with Denton High School, McMath also guides the destinies of the Junior High band.

As half-time draws near, band members leave the stands and begin filing toward the end zone, ready for the half-time show. And this year, majorettes Margie Stubblefield, Kaye Milliken, Charlotte Cole and Paula Bradford led the way!

Some heads will roll when McMath sees this version of standing at attention, won't they Sharon MacAninch, Carol Morgan, Elleece Killingsworth, Eunice Gibson and Kaye Shirley? Red Warren shows Patsy Chambers which side you should mount a horse, en route to a game.

Lauren Frost, Orchestra Director and Student Council Sponsor, gives his group pre-program instruction at the Homecoming Assembly. And, at right, he's pictured ready to take off to Tulsa, Oklahoma, for the SASC convention with Shirley Stephens, Beverly Davis, Barbara Fitzgerald and Lou Suddath. And just think —for this he gets paid, too!

Mr. Frost joins the Student Council in the library for a luncheon meeting, while at right he addresses the student body on the subject of the above-mentioned SASC convention, from which the delegates had just returned in November.

Mr. Lauren Frost, Orchestra director, and Student Council Sponsor, which he took over to fill the spot left by the resignation of Mrs. Pete Shands, is a man of many parts. Besides looking the part of the scholar—he is a scholar!—and no doubt, a gentleman. Like the A Cappella Chorus, Frost's group is much in demand where good music is indicated, which speaks well for an organization which is just completing its second year. In the Student Council department, Frost serves as mentor and advisor for the students who keep Denton High School the smooth-running organization that it is.

"November 16 dawned bright and clear . . ." But enough of this cultural-type writing. We're talking about Homecoming, held this year in connection with National Education Week. Pictured at left are officers of the senior class and the student council, greeting visitors. Seated: Karen Austin, Beverly Davis and Judy Colwell. Standing: Grady Collum, Bill House, A. O. (Prof) Calhoun, Don Brown, and guests. And speaking of Homecoming brings us to the general topic of . . .

Homecoming Highlights

On the opposite page is a montage of the day's events. At upper left, a scene from the assembly, when DHS's 32nd birthday cake was lighted by ex-students in an impressive ceremony; next, Ralph Adams describes a football game taking place in "Prof" Calhoun's cow pasture; next to Ralph, volunteers unload truckloads of wood for the Homecoming Pep Rally and Bonfire; Mrs. Doyle Chrisman looks pretty for a Homecoming photog; Patsy Rawls accompanies Mary Lou Moore in a practice session. Below the cake, the Homecoming Queen nominees, Beverly Bryson, Shirley Stephens, Margaret Mitchell(who can't be seen) and Beverly Davis, ride in the parade; next a scene from the library; below the nominees is a shot of the orchestra in assembly and a snap from the half-time ceremonies at the game when Beverly Bryson was crowned. Bursting from the flames of the bonfire is Ruben James, whose performance at the game with Sherman helped earn him the title of Most Valuable Back and Athletic Favorite at the end of the season. He's about to run into Pare'l Milchan, student body president, holding a buncha posies for Queen Beverly—the gal he's kissin' above. At lower left, "Prof" Calhoun is still hanging around the pretty gals at the courtesy desk, and at lower right, the "Stardusters" make their DHS debut on the Homecoming Assembly.

Ann Ames—to please with her guitar, and she tries, tries, tries. The reason for the beat, discouraged look is someone told her she just doesn't have what it takes to become to the boys what the Pelvis is to the girls. And she'd had her heart set on sporting one of them low-slung shirts, too!

Susie Shields and Bette Brown demonstrate what it takes to become good newspaper women in Mr. Bennett's Journalism I—the ability to sleep anywhere. In the background, Martha Jo Fletcher plays it a little craftier and props on elbow while concealing closed eyes behind her hand. Looks just like she's studying, doesn't it!

There comes a time in the production of all yearbooks when an awkward hole develops—sometimes to the extent of a whole page. Hence, the Candid Camera:

1. Musicians are such jolly people! 2. Beverly Bryson: "Oh, why does he treat me this way!?" 3. "Love me tender . . ." 4. Four Tulsa-bound SASC delegates board a Greyhound—bus, that is . . . Barbara Fitzgerald, Lou Suddath, Shirley Stephens and Beverly Davis. 5. Cheerleader—1967. 6. Mrs. Gassaway: "I didn't know she went with THAT boy!" 7. Judy Colwell: "Lost weekend, anyone?" 8. Spears: "Excuses! Excuses! That's all I hear around here!" 9. Tommy Webster: "I feel graceful as all get-out today!" 10. Richard Montgomery: "Magoo." 11. Jo Ann Burks, Jimmy Davis and Bill Armstrong—three's a crowd, Bill! 12. Judd Holt: boy sports scribe. 13. Dale Reeves: What's wrong with this picture? 14. Standing Room Only at the Homecoming Assembly. 15. Mr. Guyer: "As I said before . . ." 16. Mrs. MacIntire and Coach Spears in a cheek-to-cheek session at the Howdy Dance.

The lineup—favorites of Denton High School for 1957.

Favorites' Ball

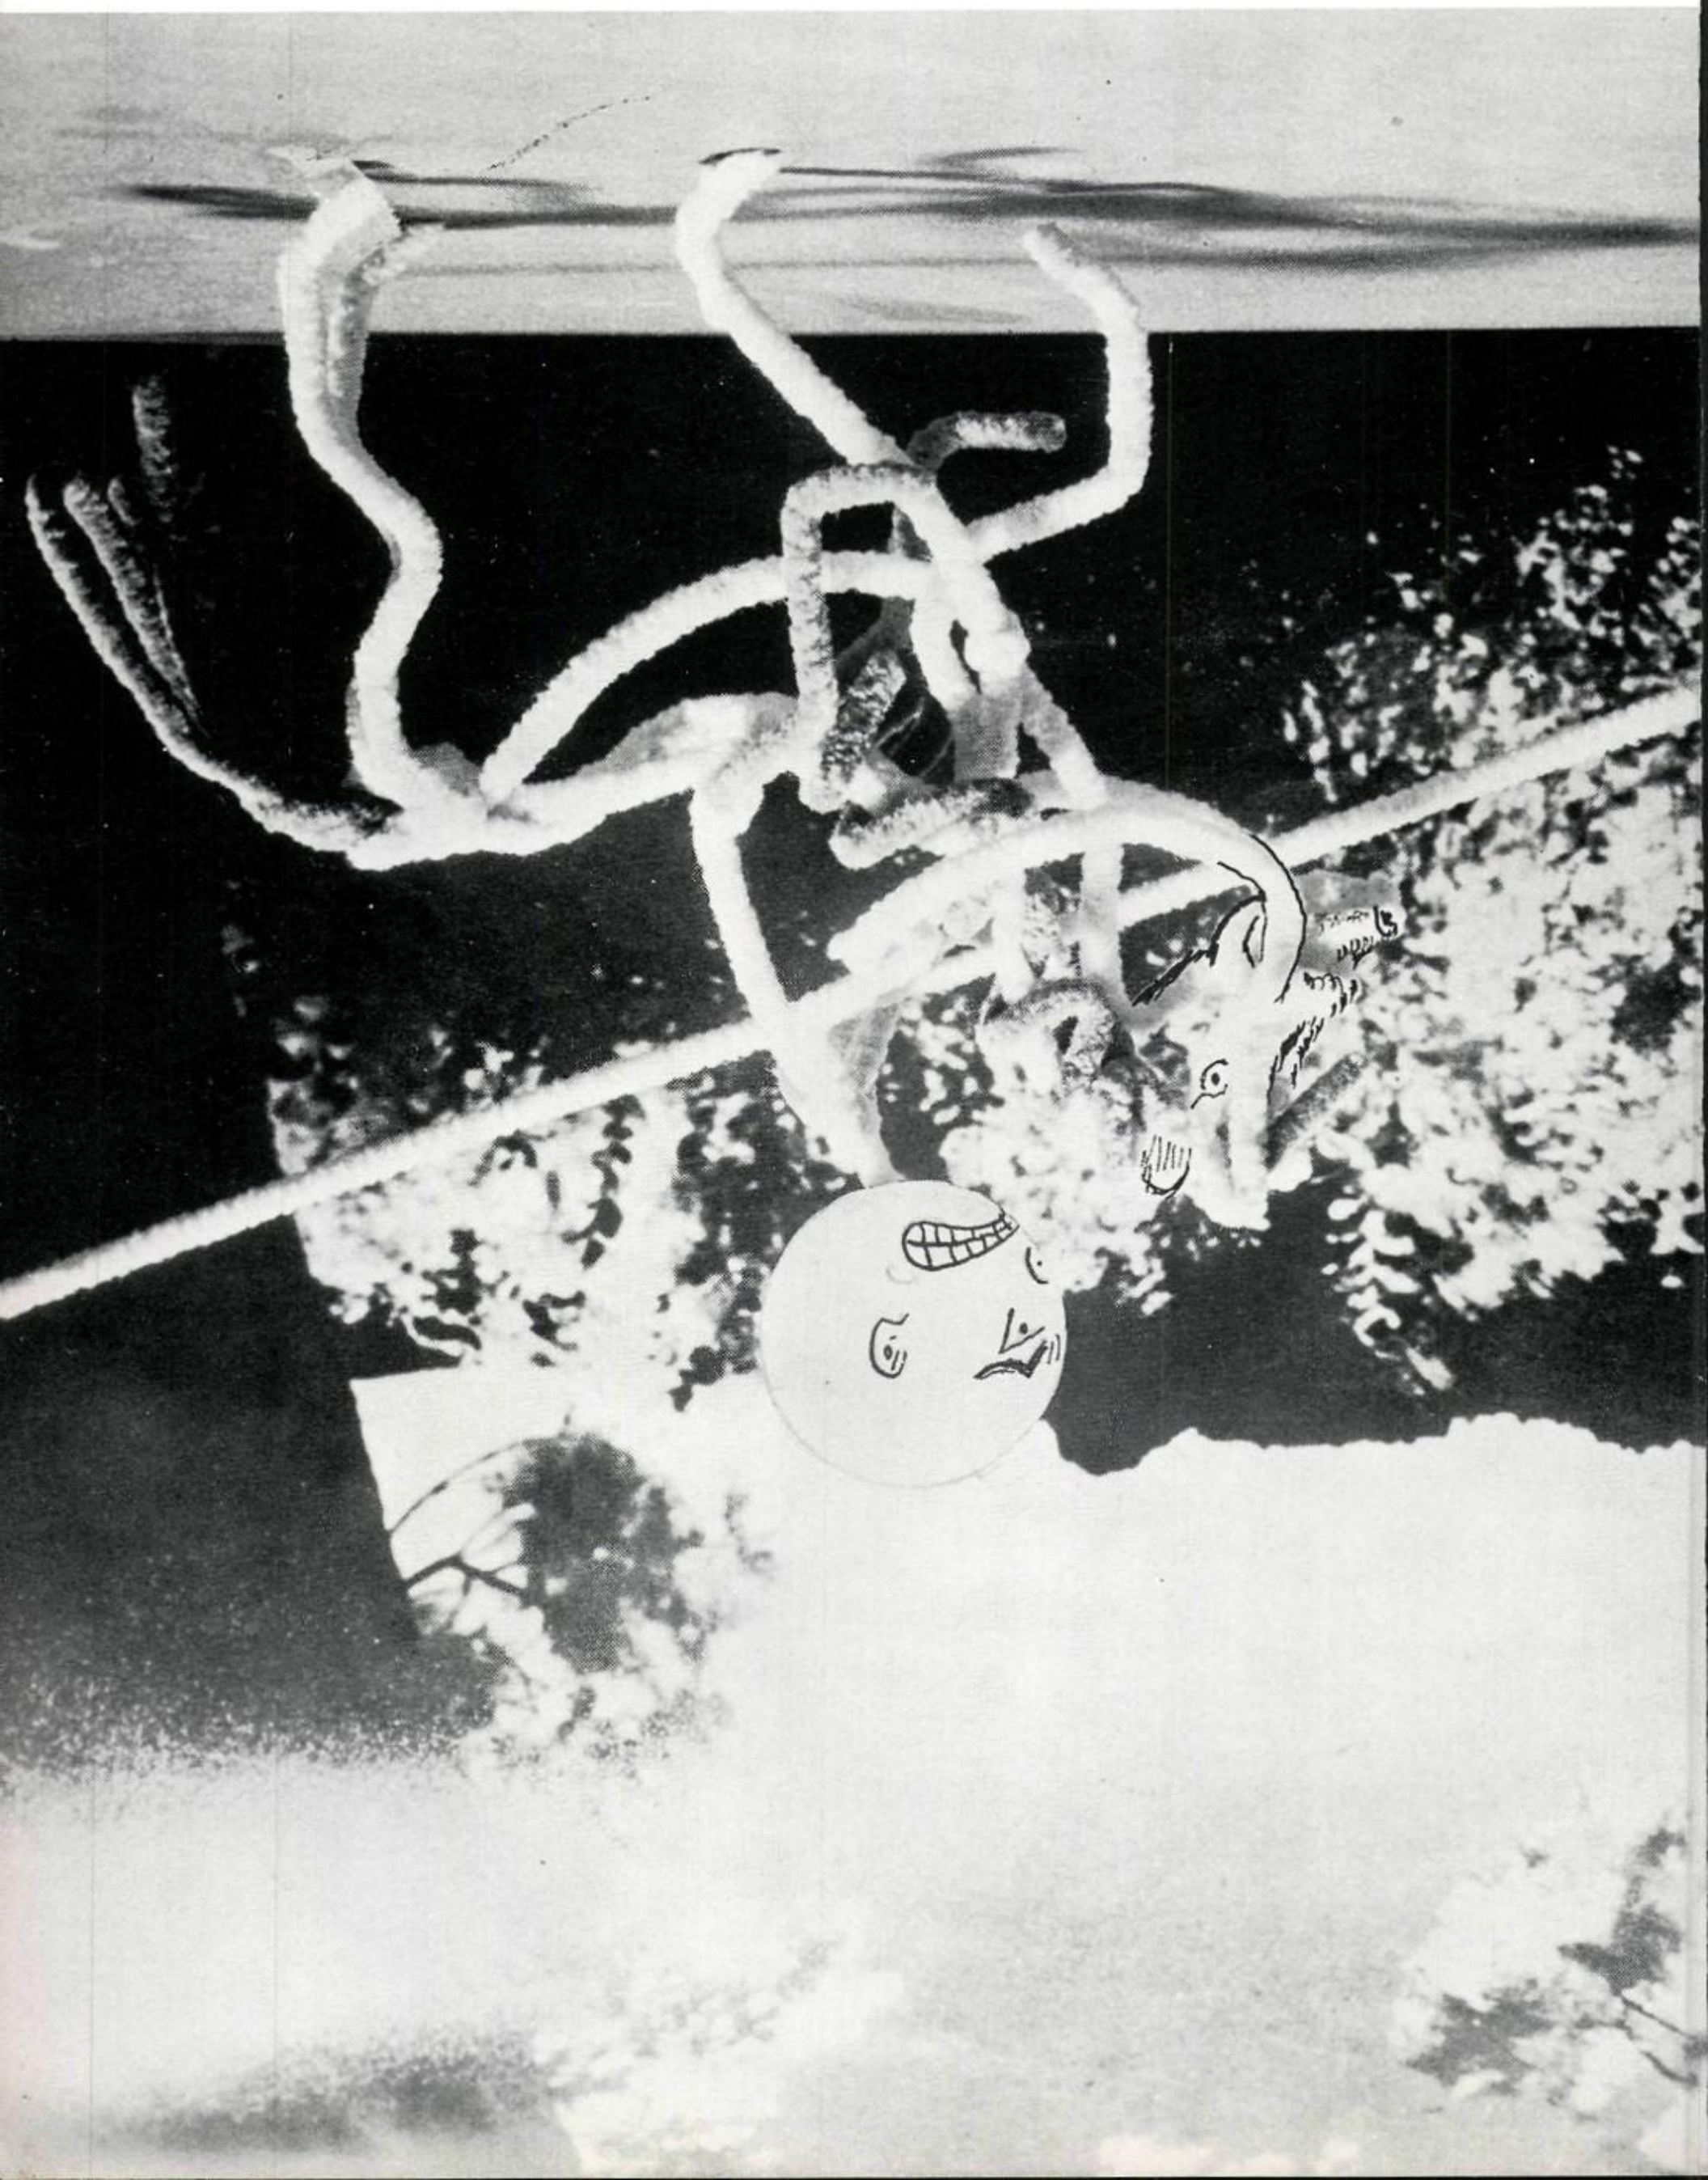
With plenty of audience approval, Ruben James comes forward to acknowledge his victory as Athletic Favorite.

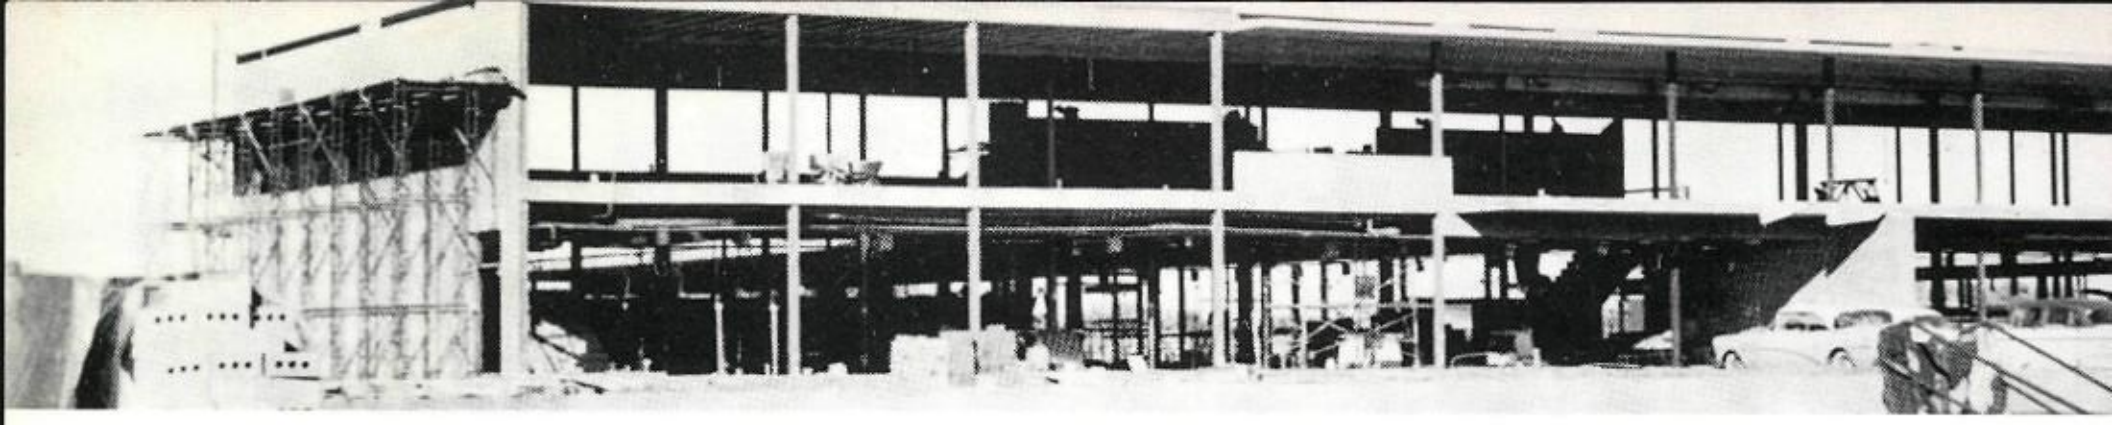
If "a pretty girl is like a melody," then Loretta Wade is a symphony in the picture above.

mom + Dad Dancing.

"I could've danced all night!"

Activities



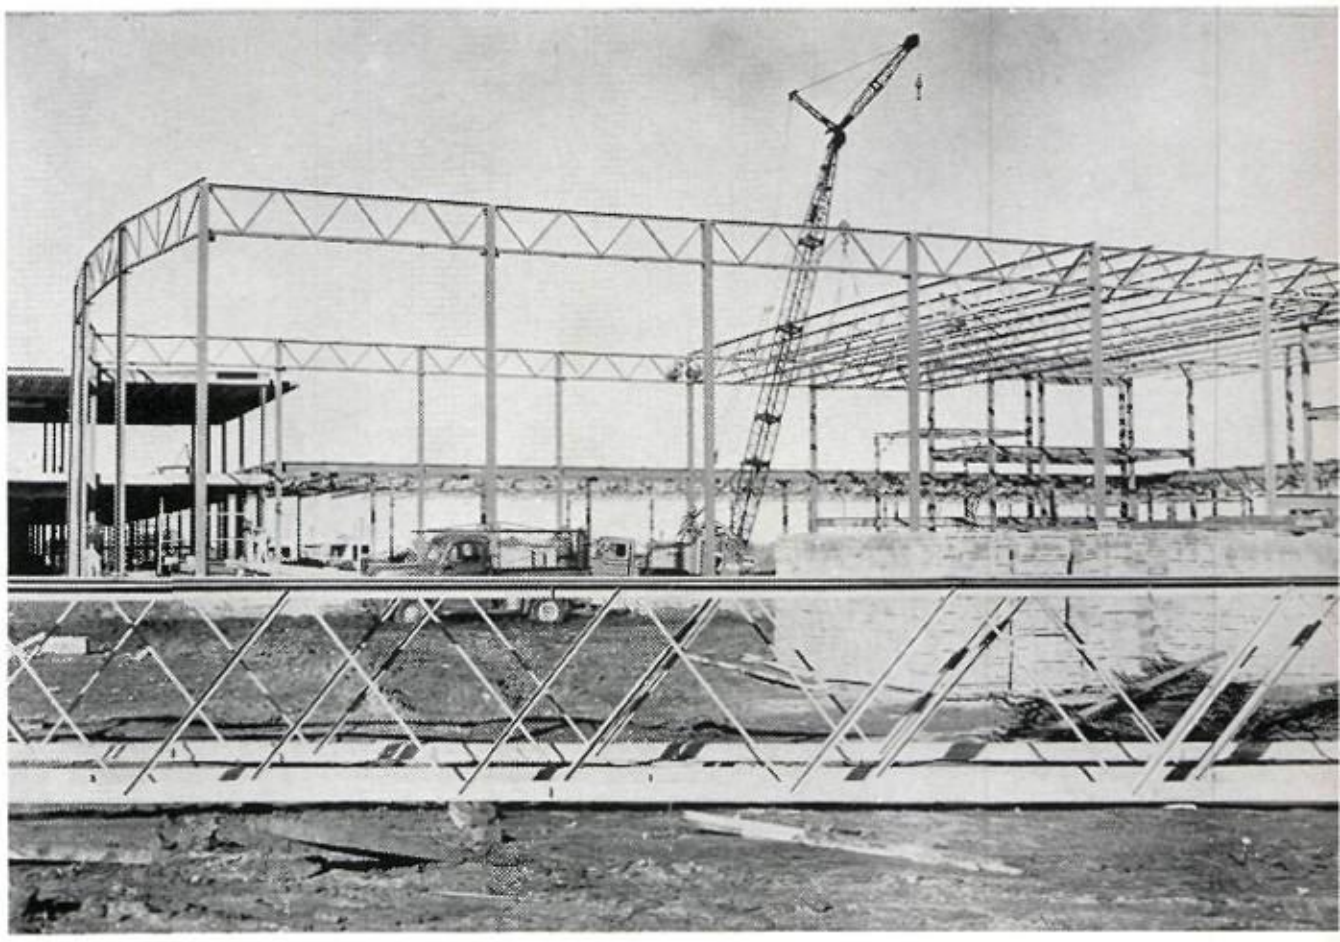


Like the skeleton of some huge pre-historic beast, the new DHS be

Daring men made a work-a-day living, risking their lives scrambling among the girders and beams.

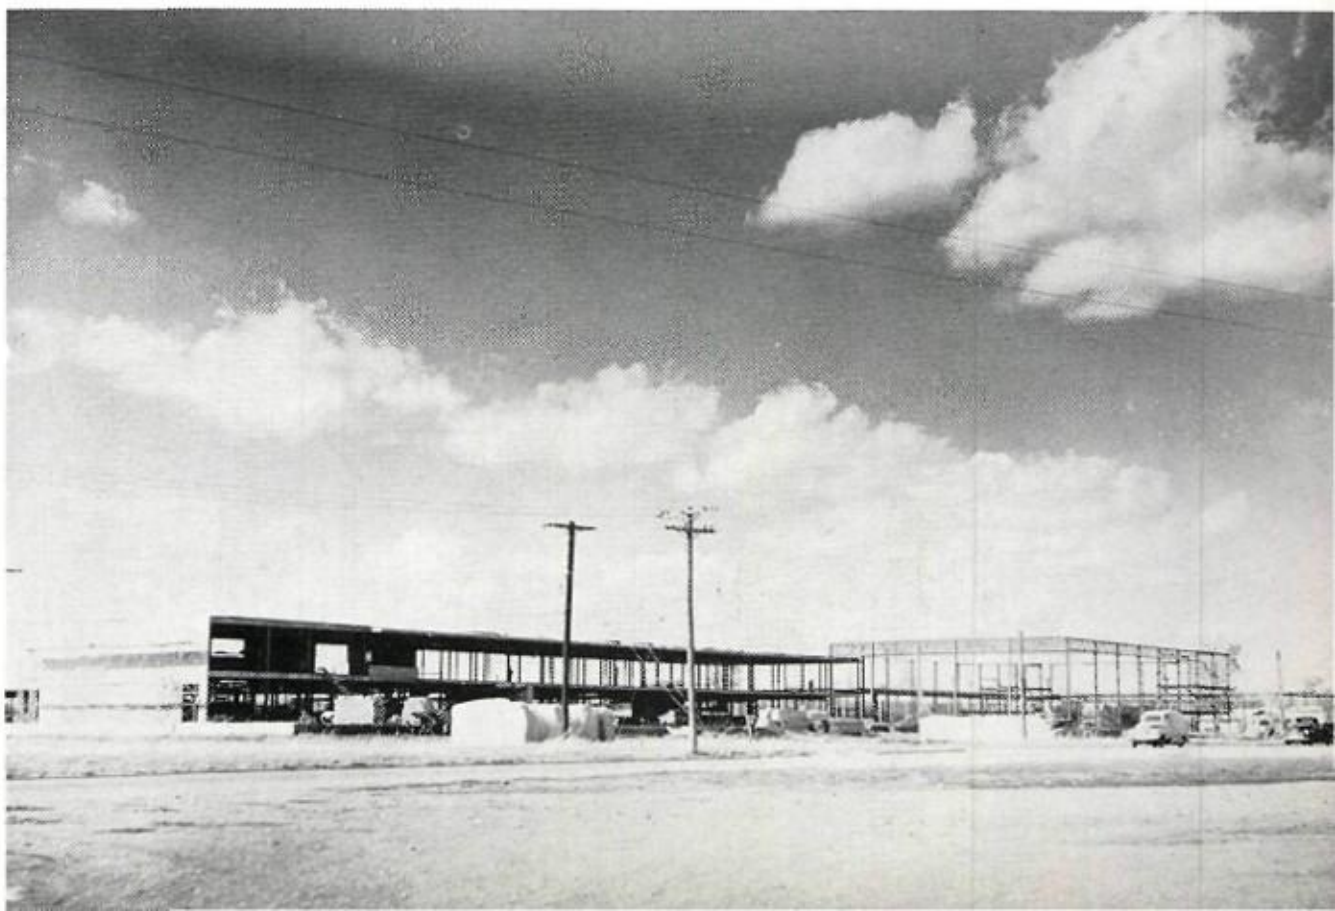
ise out of erstwhile pasture land on Fulton Street last fall.

Massive machinery moved with awesome dignity about the steel jungle where men swarmed like busy insects . . .



The flash and fire of the welder's arc punctuated the scene . . .

. . . and now, red brick filled gaps between the mammoth's ribs.



Assemblies

"Prof" gives Pare'l a sendoff as Student Body President.

The first assembly of the year really wasn't so serious!

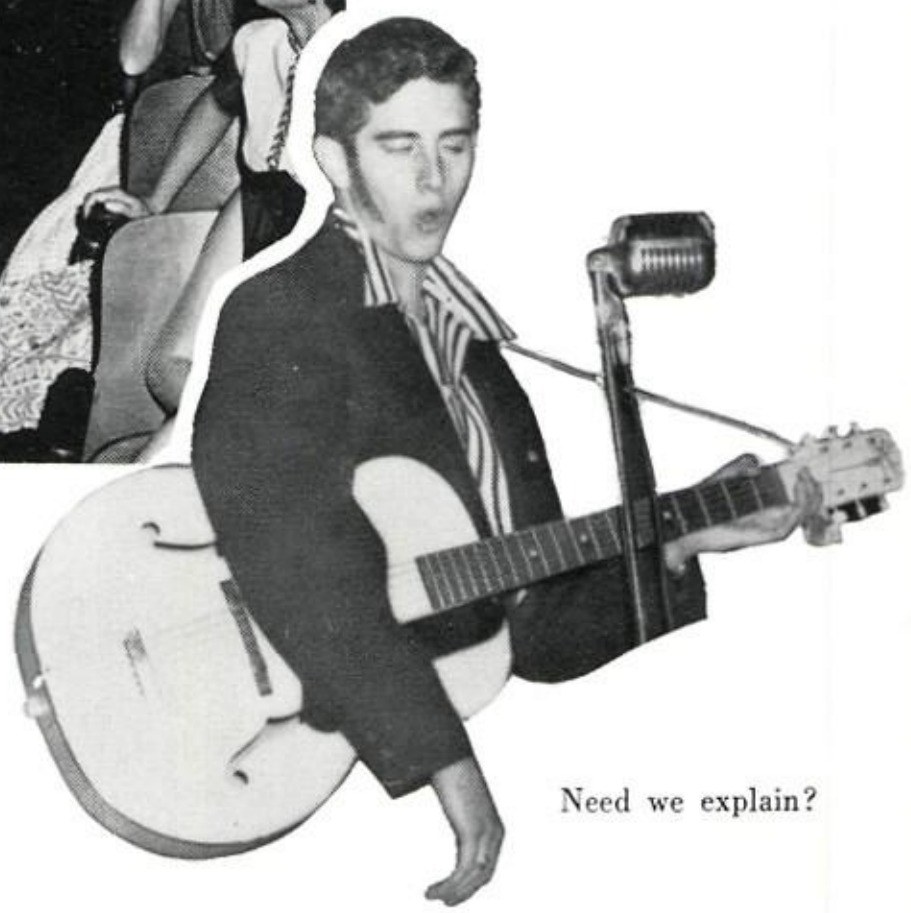
Our five homesick Texans returned from Tulsa to give us "just the facts, man!"

The angelic voices that presented our Christmas assembly belonged to our own A Cappella Choir.

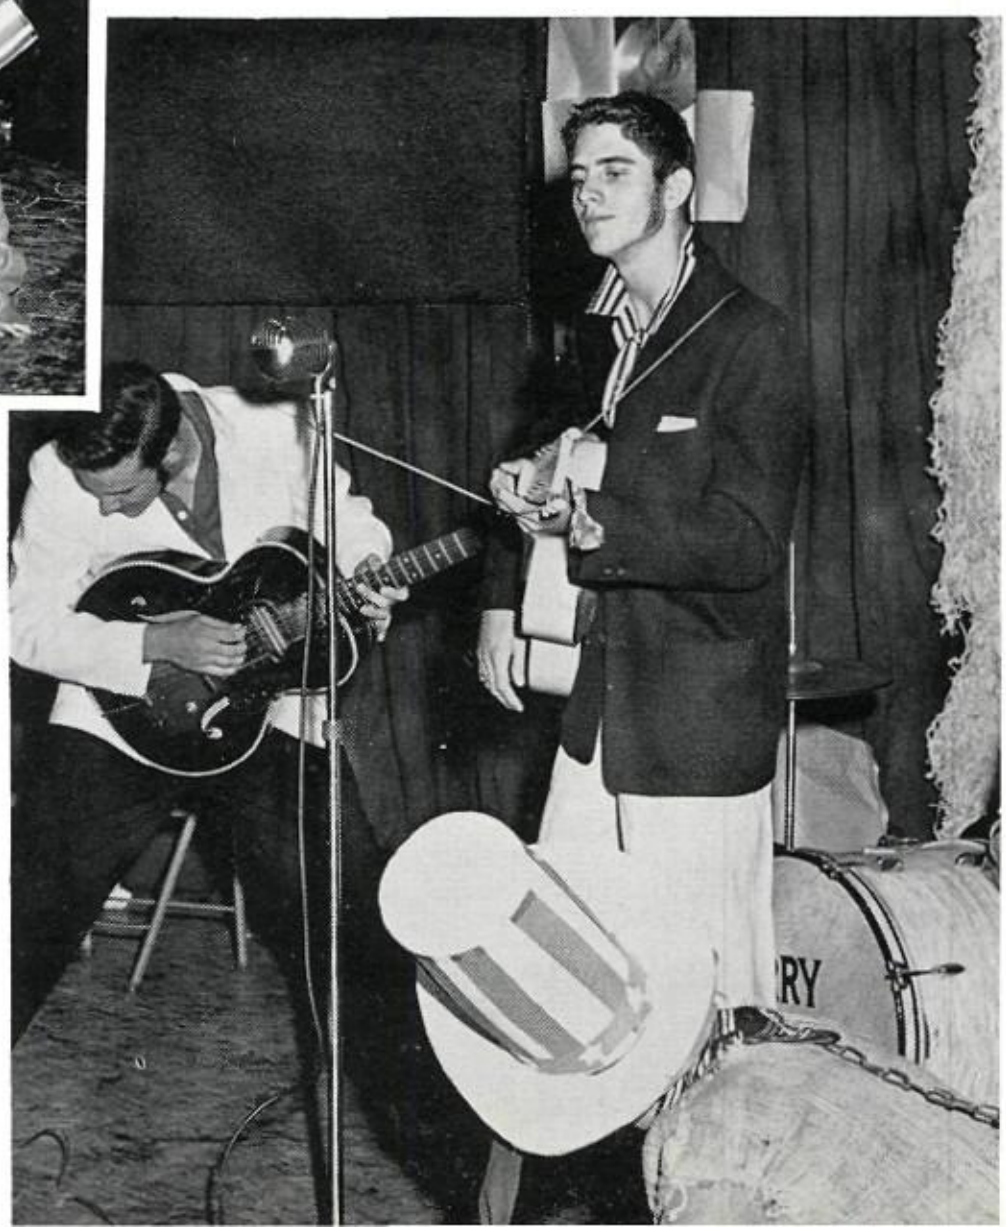
Elvis for President!

The audience wasn't sure what was happening, but they enjoyed every screaming minute.

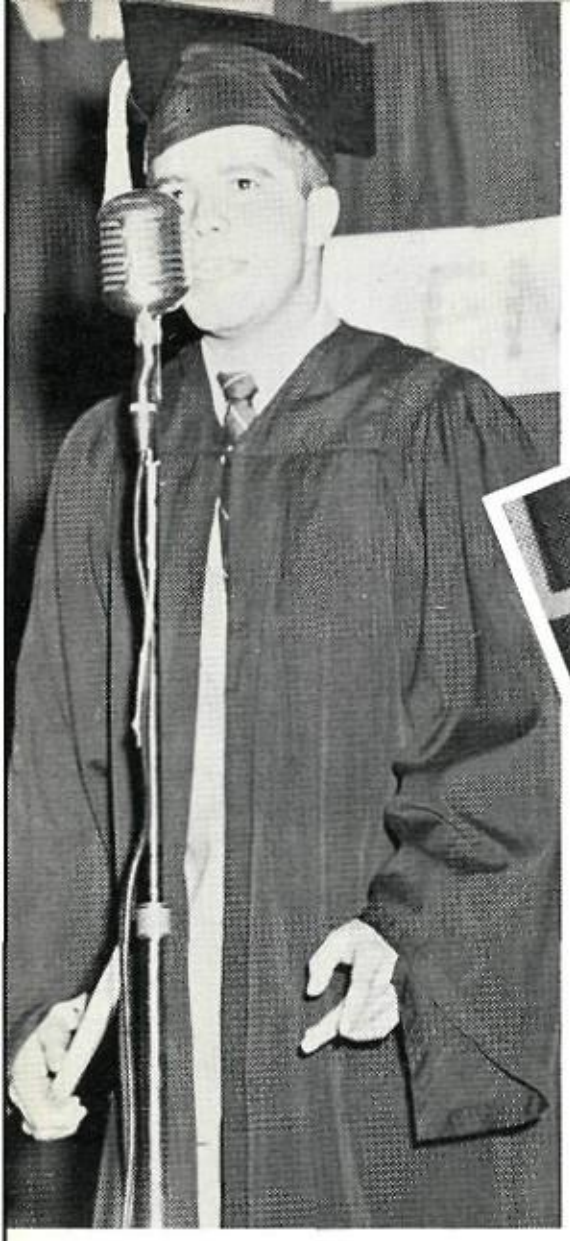
"You ain't nothin' but a . . . king-sized cocker spaniel!"



Need we explain?



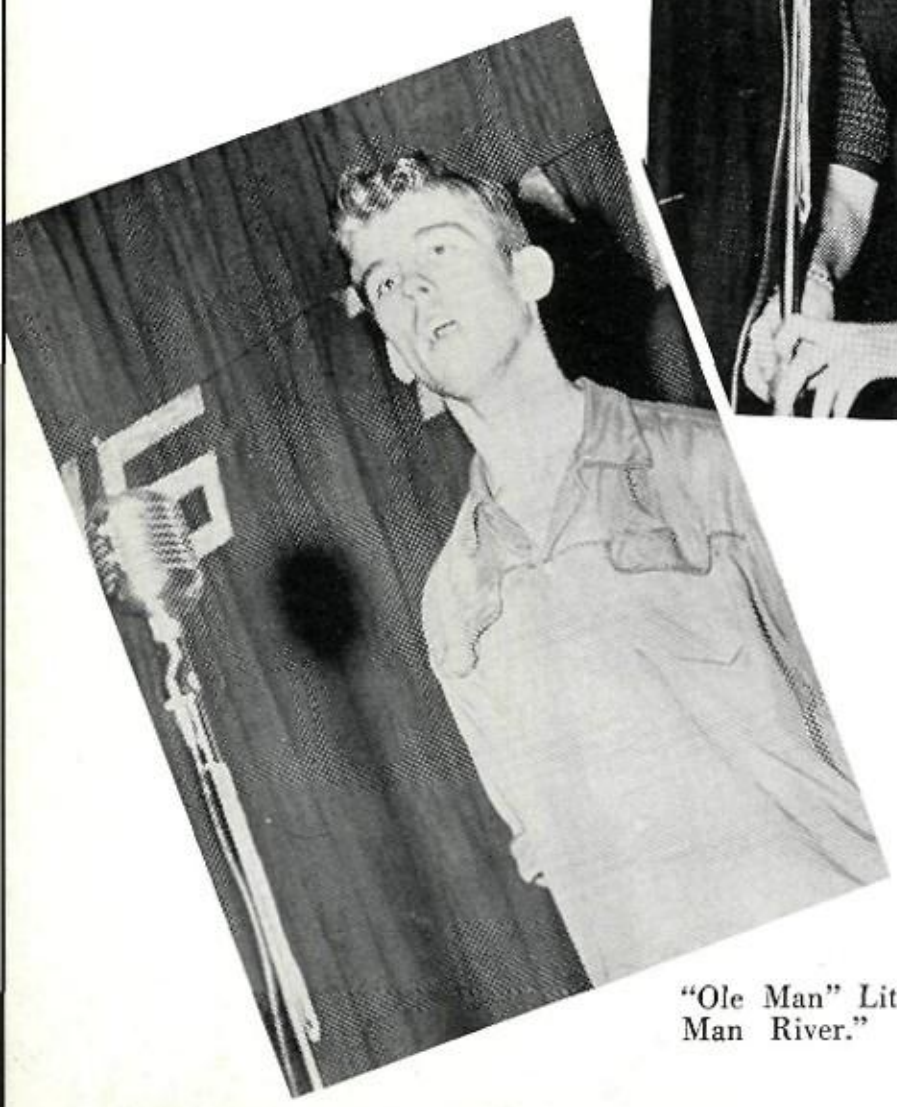
With a fine view of Uncle Sam's hat, we view Bob "Geetar" White in outer space and Elvis (really Mack Jr.) pleasing the womenfolk.



Bullet and friend.

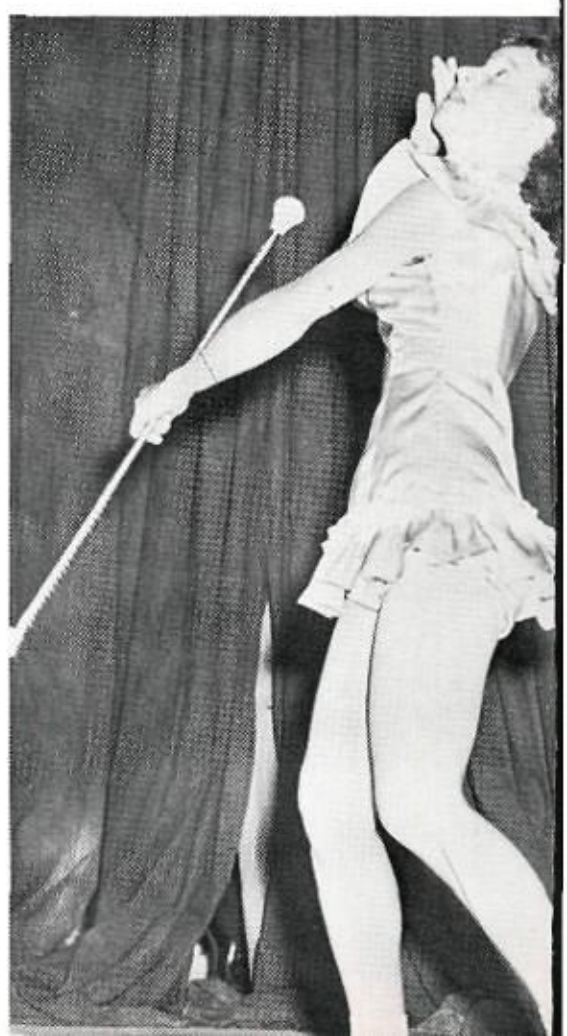
With their mouths wide open, these talented six entertained Denton High.

We're glad we have you to sing for us, Joan.



"Ole Man" Little sings "Ole Man River."

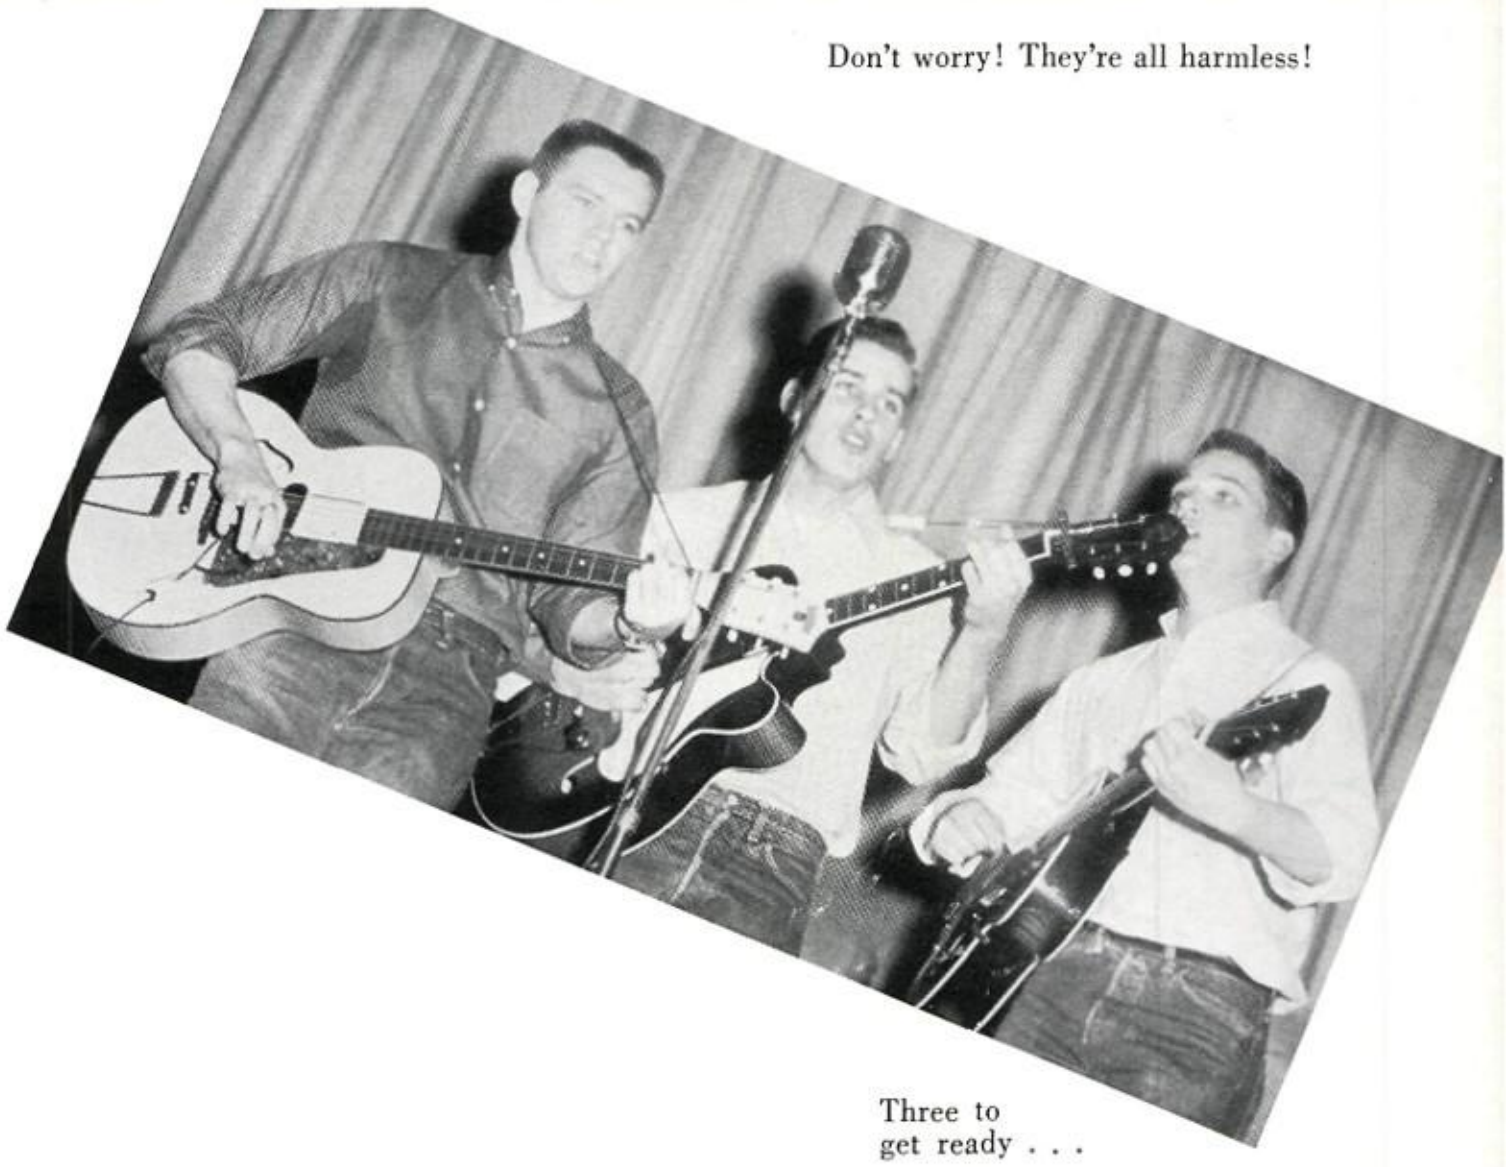
Help! Kay's other baton is loose!



Tale

Sir Noel of the keyboard.

Don't worry! They're all harmless!



Three to get ready . . .

Assemblies

They're not being tortured, really! Just straining for those high notes.

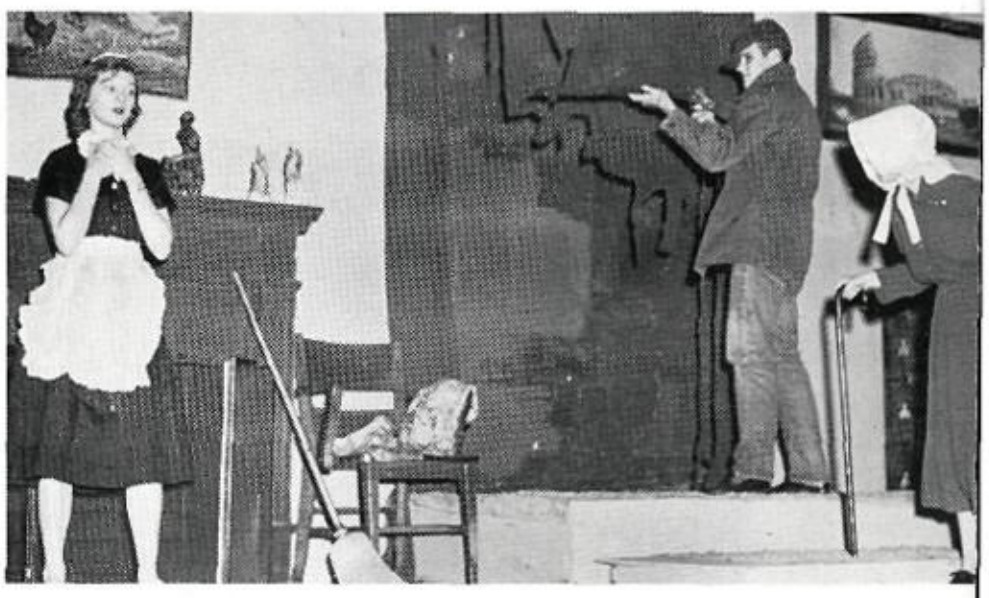
Arthur Godfrey's got nothing on us!

"One Mad Night!"

Watch out, Judy! They're attacking from all sides. Actually they're all sweet and gentle. (That's what the script says.)

"Depression" and "Priscilla" give an impromptu performance.

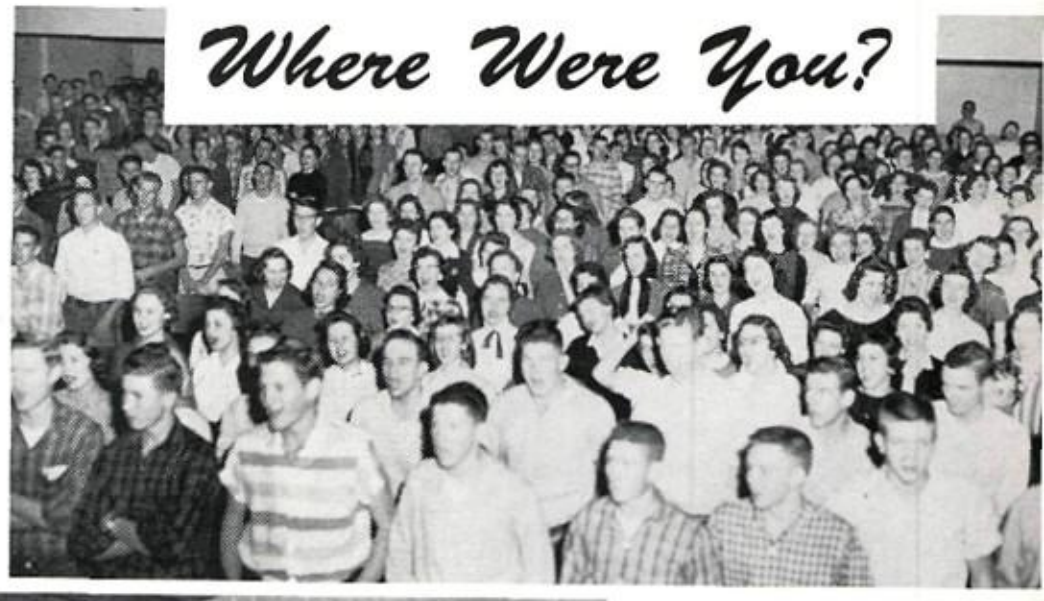
Don Cutter (Bob White) isn't sure who's more dangerous—Silletto (Mack Massey), wanted for murder or Mrs. Finch (Loretta Waide), a griping busybody.



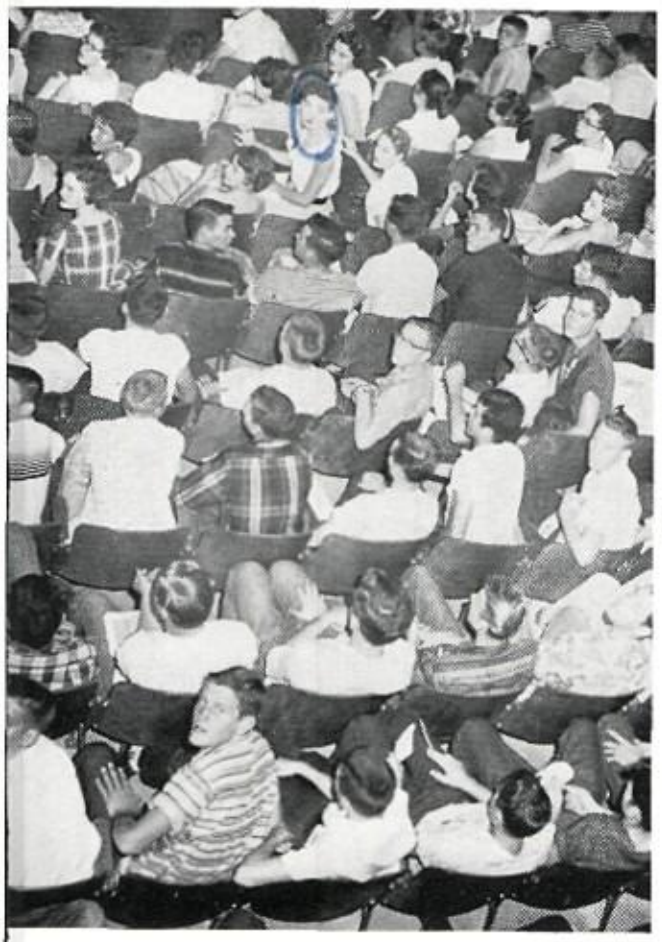
"Lawd, guide 'dat bullet straight." John Alden (David Phillips) is just playful!

Where Were You?

Rackin' up brownie points?



Supporting the Broncos?



In detention hall?

In the balcony?

With the crowd?

Or gone fishing?

Favorites 19

One slip and . . .

"Don't look now, but somebody just rode up!"

With various degrees of unconcern, these nominees watch two of their group being carted away by a policeman.

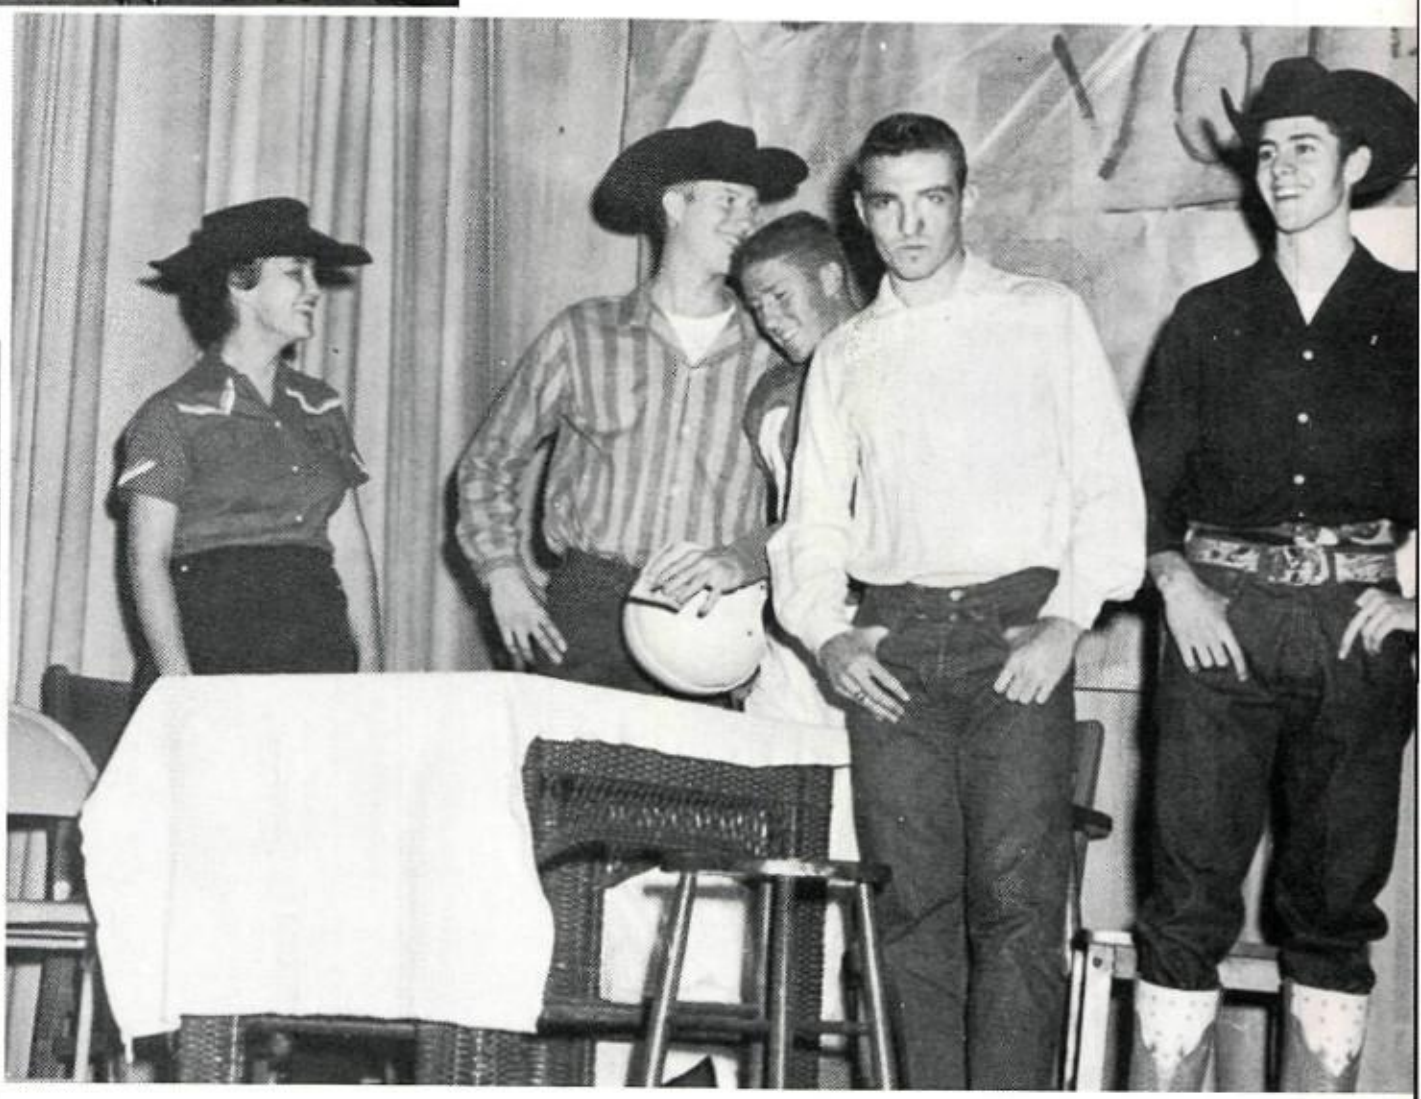
"Calamity" Colwell rides again along with her faithful companions Loretta, Barbara, and almost Linda.

Contest 57

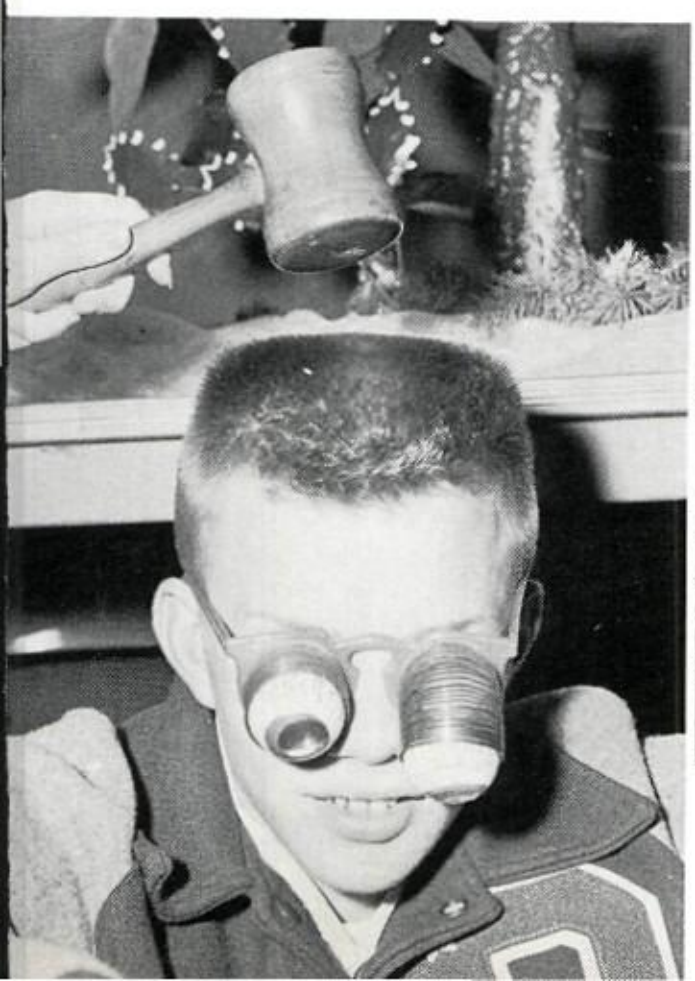
And to think, she has such lovely parents!

Shooting craps? Telling dirty jokes? It certainly drew a large crowd.

Janis seems afraid to trust her strength, Kathy.



Lou, Albert, Ruben, and Mack all share the same joke. Don's pouting 'cause he wasn't told.



Judd's really been working too hard.

Homemakers and Farmers

"We belong to a mutual admiration society!" states Martha Jo Fletcher, outgoing Area V reporter to Barbara Clark, right, incoming officer for the same.

Mr. Roberts hands out officer pins to leaders of the DHS chapter of Future Farmers of America in a special night meeting of the group.

Below, Sara, Janet Parks and Martha Jo Fletcher could be discussing a few money-raising schemes of their own . . . to the greater glory of F.H.A.?

Journalism Trip

Early October saw the members of the "Horseshoe," "Bronco" and the first-year Journalism class descending like a swarm of Bible-type locusts on the Dallas Morning News and the Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas. Ask anyone in the Taylor Company's cafeteria which fed the hungry mob, led by Mr. Bennett's voracious appetite. It was a combined field trip for newspaper and yearbook workers who wanted to see, first-hand, the way it's done.

In the two top pictures, Mr. Bob Lynch of Taylor shows how the offset negative works and where they're made. At right, everyone watches a film demonstrating how Taylor Publishing Company produces a book like the "Bronco" from start to finish. In the shot at lower left, Lynch counts ten and prays before beginning a new leg of the journey through the sprawling plant. The others stand in prayerful meditation—and wonder if they'll go back by the cafeteria.

At lower right, the long grind slowly comes to a halt. It's been tiring for everyone—as you can see by the trouble Shirley's spastic hand is giving her.

Right: Les Marshall, the man who sold the Bronco all its photo supplies, makes a valiant effort to understand. (He didn't)

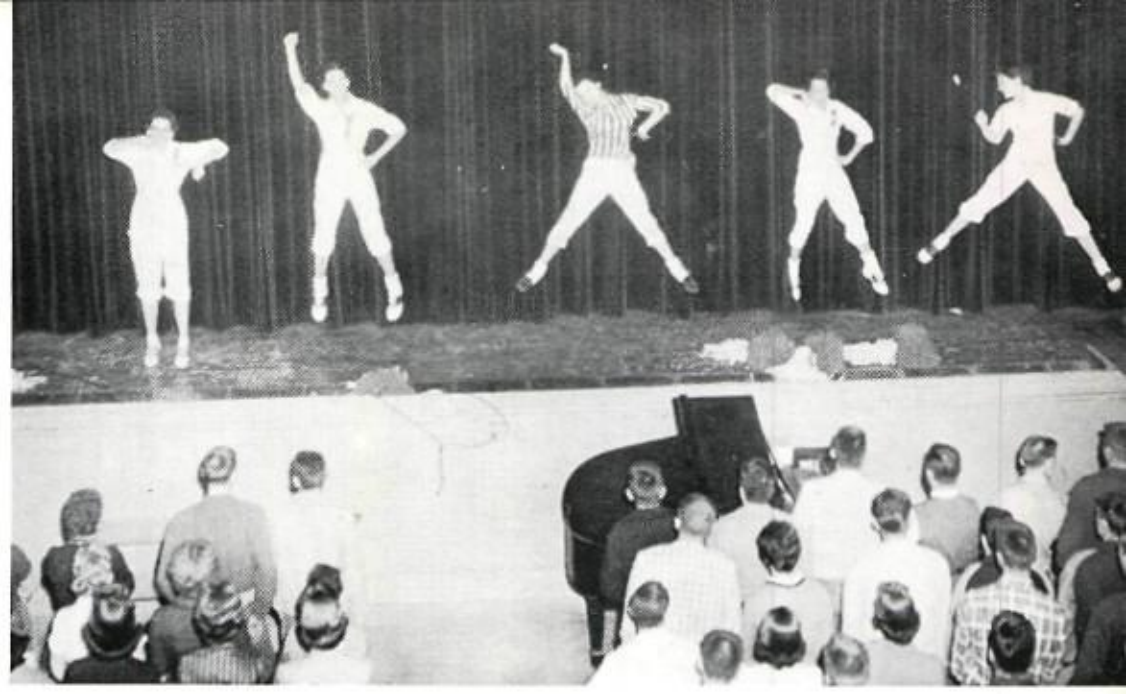
Below: "It's me they're talking about," complains Eunice Gibson, who apparently has been excluded from a tete-a-tete 'twixt Ruth Copp and Judy Colwell.

The Bronco's red-blooded sports editor, Mike Smith, gives his impression of "Mr. Punk of 1957."



"Look what we can do in our new Playtex Panty Girdles!"

Marion Dean was voted "Outstanding Distributive Education Student of the Year" by fellow students.

The Salk Man Cometh!

February 13 lived up to its ill-omened reputation at Denton High School when Denton's doctors turned out, practically to a man, to puncture hides with Salk Polio Vaccine. It was part of a program carried out throughout the system. In picture No. 1, an unidentified victim can't face Dr. Walter Miller as he launches an attack from the rear; in No. 2, Norma Jean Gregory faces the needle with classic courage, as does Sue Goodner in No. 3 and likewise, Alice Blair in No. 4. At lower left, in No. 5, Alice faces up to what she was dreading--and gets the point all right. In Nos. 6 and 7, Cynthia Darnell and David Nivens show cold, clinical interest in the proceedings, and in No. 8, Martha Jo Fletcher pretends she is listening to Elvis to take her mind off her troubles.

Everyone cut classes in search for that nasty old T.B. germ.

"But what if I swallowed a safety pin."

"Don't look now, but your meatloaf is moving."

"Hurry with the kiss, I'm freezing."

"Hmmm, so he has four study halls and two libraries."

"I can't talk now, Tommy, someone is coming."

"Now I lay me down to sleep. I pray the Lord my Don to keep."

"I know they're free, but I just don't happen to like sunflower seeds with my ice cream."

"Hold on to this end and they'll never know it's broken."

"The peanuts are rotten!"

"Fifty-four minutes and class will be over."

As Sally (Carol Shirley) looks on in disgust, Marcia (Linda Roberts) makes George (Dan Thomas) forget all about his girlfriend.

"You old goat," screams Mr. Ahern (Mike Smith) at Andrew (Ben Whitten), while Nettie (Linda Sims) tries to keep peace.

Sally (Oleta McNary): "It must be this leg."
Jane (Loretta Waide): "Yes, it's bleeding."

Cindy (Joanne Macey) tries to fix things for Marilyn (Patsy Pitner) and Rose (Lou Suddath).

Jim (Don Chaney) seems rather perplexed after Mrs. Tilton (Sylvia Brummett) introduces him to her "charming" daughter, Josie (Kathy Brown).

Marilyn (Ann Harris) seems worried about Jane's (Loretta Waide) condition as is her best friend, Sally (Oleta McNary).

roy, you didn't have to ask Daddy!"

(Beverly) Morris) and (Whayne Moore)

"Come, Josie dear," pleads Betty Hamlin to Rosemary Lockhart. Watching them is Rose (Bette Lasater).

Agnes (Judy Colwell) introduces Cindy (Shirley Stephens) to Bob Cunningham (Mack Massey, Jr.).

"You're jealous of my Red Longfellows, shouts Mr. Ahern (Pare'l Milchan). "They're not as good as Mr. Cutler's White Ladies," says George (Earl Bentley).

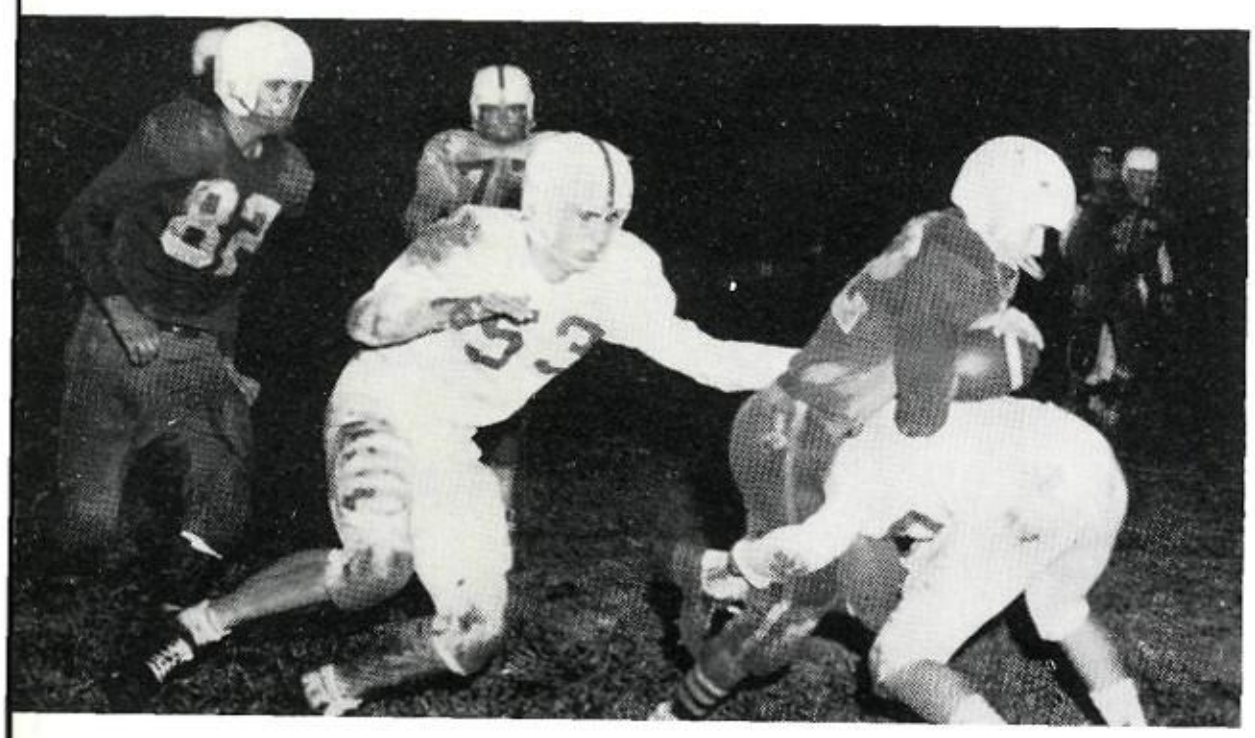
Denison's Yellow Jackets rolled up 362 yards rushing to hand the Bronco's their fourth defeat and their first conference loss 27-7 October 12. Ruben James carries the ball while Nubbin Jolly, Don Brown, and Gary Shaw open up the Denison line.



The Broncos outplayed Arlington all over the field October 19, but lost the game 18-6 on bad breaks. Ruben James is pictured being stopped after a nice gain. Moving in is Nubbin Jolly.

The Broncos played the number two team in the state, Wichita Falls, October 26. The outclassed Denton eleven, trailing 40-0 at the half, held the Coyotes scoreless during the last half. The final gun sounded with the score still 40-0.

On November 2, the Broncos held heavily favored Grand Prairie to one hard-earned touchdown in a game which ended with the Gophers on top 7-0. Grand Prairie scored in the second period and concentrated on warding off three Bronco threats the rest of the game. At right a Denton Ball carrier, assisted by two blockers, goes for good yardage. Players were unidentified because of the mud.

Homecoming Queen

Beverly Bryson

Coach Martin admires the Sportsmanship trophy presented to Dick Thomasson by Jess Neely, head coach of Rice Institute on behalf of the Kiwanis International.

Wichita Falls' No. 77 is so intent on the high-flyin' ball, he doesn't realize that sudden death in the guise of Gary Shaw is moving in on him. (Incidentally, Shaw nailed him like a coffin lid, the ball squirted out of his arms — the play was incomplete.)

When the basketball season drew to a close, DHS cagers and sports writers for the Horseshoe paid special tribute to Record-Chronicle sports editor Dub Brown for his work with the Broncos —his enthusiasm—his loyalty to a team making its timid debut into rough District 4-7A. A special story, illustrated by this picture, appeared in the Horseshoe, together with the announcement that the Broncs came in second in district.

Guest speaker Doak Walker, Jean Kirkpatrick, Martha Jo Fletcher, Tom Heath and Margie Boyd look on as Coach Eaves presents Don Brown with Most Valuable Lineman award at the annual Football Banquet, sponsored by the Pep Club, of which Jean was president.

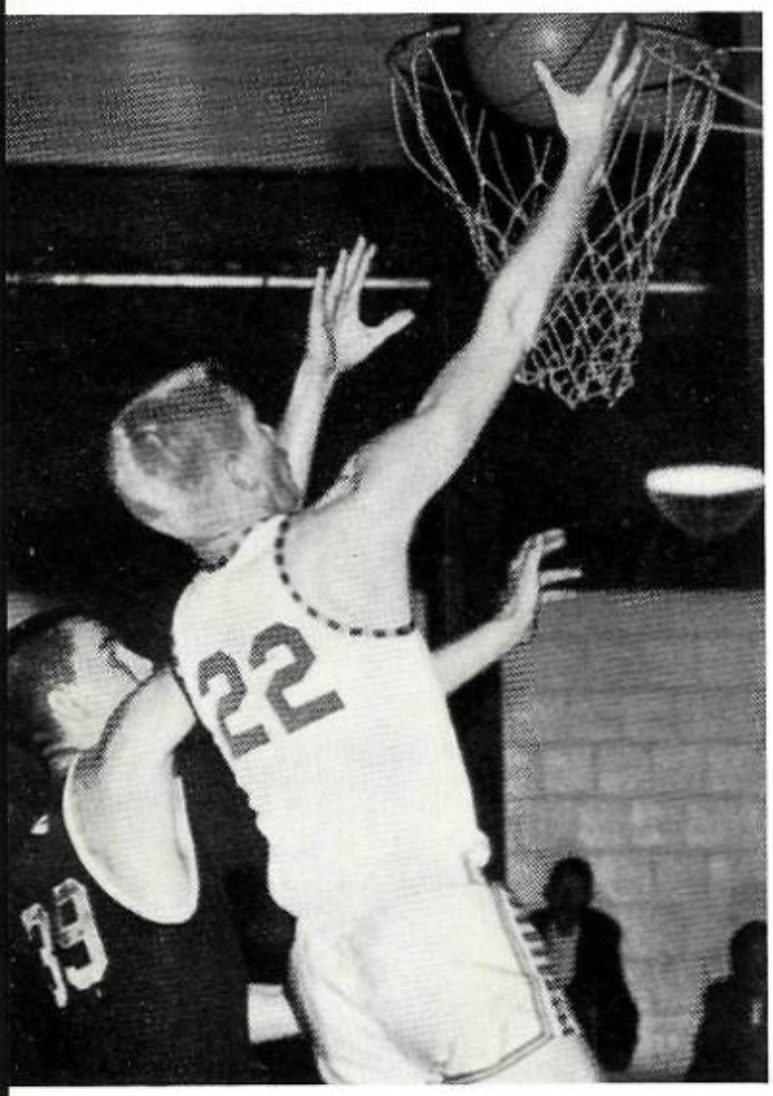
Standing, with ball, is one of the NT student coaches, Charles Wilcoxen, who made this basketball season a very successful one for the

Pony Squad

Below is a free-hand drawing by Ronnie Trice, recording a typical Bronc's reaction to that No. 31 Irving brought here for the season closer. At right, Albert Wyss, Senior Guard, runs through his paces for the photographer. For more individual action on the 1956-57 Bronco cagers, turn the page . . .

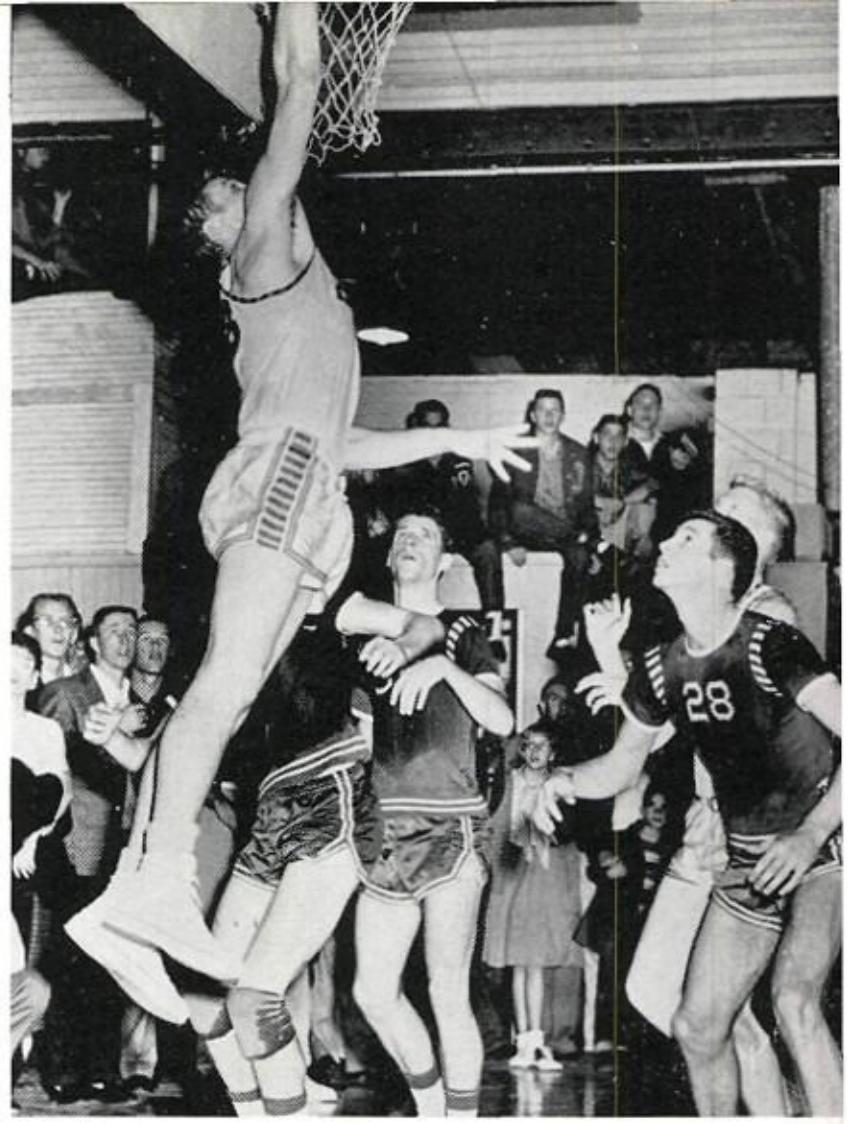
The Broncos started the New Year with a bang as they thumped the Denison Yellow Jackets 73-51 January 2. at Bronco Gym in their first District 7-AAAA game. Don Lewis, All-District forward who was high for the night with 24 points, looks on as Lindell Vinson nets 2.



The DHS Broncos continued to roll by defeating the Arlington Colts 62-36 January 4 at Bronco Gym. The whole Bronco squad figured in the second straight district win of the year with their nifty ball-stealing and control. In the picture Johnny Hall racks up two points for Denton.

After getting off to a slow start, the Broncos began to pull away in the final quarter against Sherman as they turned back the Bearcats 68-48 January 15, for their fourth district win. Nubbin Jolly stretches for the basket while Tracy Collom looks on.

Starting from an early lead, the Grand Prairie Gophers killed all hope for a district crown for the DHS Broncos when they whipped them 72-62 before a standing-room-only crowd in Bronco Gym February 1. In the picture, Don Lewis shows open-mouthed Grand Prairie cagers that winning isn't always easy.



The Broncos' second defeat of powerful Wichita Falls February 5—64-61 in a thrilling overtime game—left DHS tied with the Coyotes for second place in district. Don Lewis, high scorer for the night with 20 points, shoots for two as teammates Johnny Hall, Bobby Batte, and David Phillips move in for the rebound.

Having been defeated by Irving in the first half of district play, the DHS Broncos closed a successful 7-AAAA debut by turning back the strong Tiger quintet 72-68 February 15. In the shot at right, Johnny Hall goes up and over Irving's towering 31 to sink a set shot in the second quarter of the tight tussle.

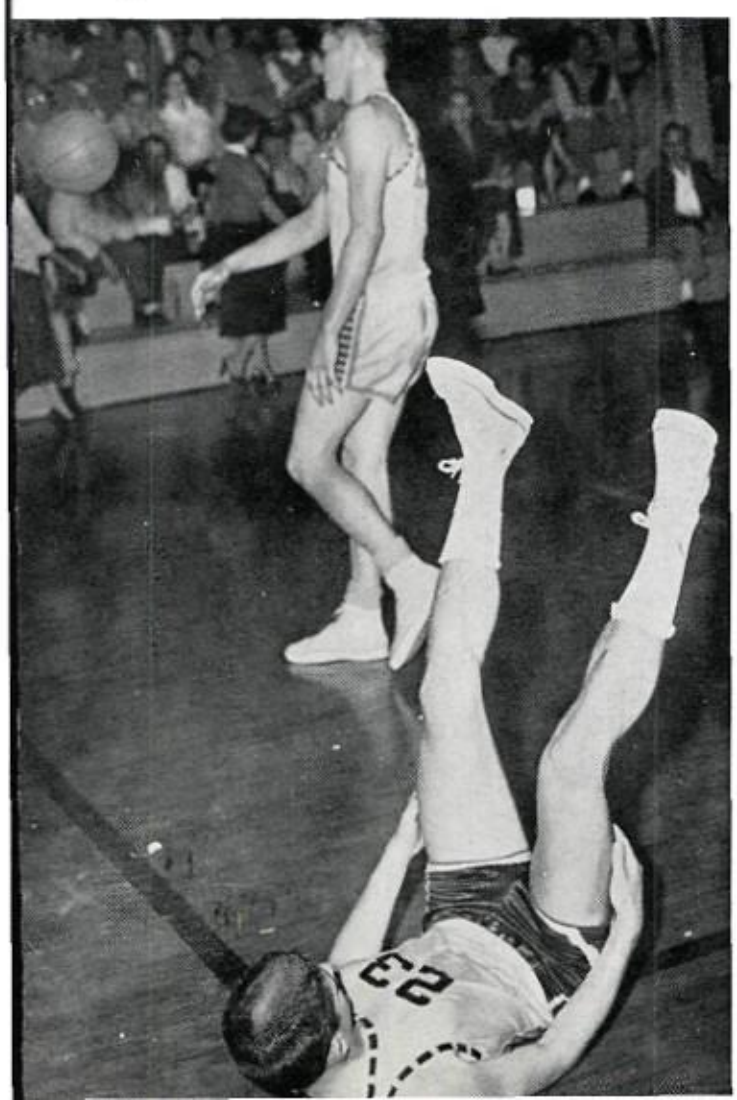
Basketball King and Queen

If we'd had room to print the whole picture at left, you'd see what a good sport Tracy Collom really is. There were four Yellowjackets on his arm—and he's not even flinching!

At right, we have a rare view of Principal John Guyer in a coy mood, peering through the decorations at the Basketball Coronation. Don Lewis and Beverly Davis are taking their bows—having just been crowned (no flinching here, either), while Bobby Batte, David Phillips, Nubbin Jolly and Coach Lane applaud.

A Grand Prairie cager thinks things have gone about far enough—if not too far. This rare view was made during GP's return match with the Broncs at home. Despite this dismayed expression, they won the game.

Below, Don Lewis apparently is indifferent to the plight of a stricken Irving player, as he retrieves the ball from the referee. Commented Lewis, who fouled out in the fourth quarter, "More opposition we can always get—but a good ball costs a lot of money!"



At right, Ruben James goes up for a goal during the Denison match — unopposed. This scene occurred with almost monotonous regularity—to the Yellowjackets' disgust.

At right, returning letter"man" Margaret Mitchell gives a weak-eyed demonstration of a service.

Dear Carol,

I have truly enjoyed being in your class. You are one of the nicest and most talented persons I know. I hope you will have happy and successful marriage. Good luck and God bless you.

Always a friend,
Wanda Myers

Dear Daughter -

This is your last annual, and it means a lot more than just the last one - It means that my first baby is grown and has graduated for which I am so very proud. Thank You dear for every thing - A mother couldn't ask for a finer more thoughtful sweet lovely little girl.

I wish all the very best for you and Gerald, and I don't think I could leave you in better hands than Gerald, He is a sweet fine boy, and I feel satisfied you will be happy -

You have always been a perfect daughter. I will miss you, but I will be glad and happy you are doing what you want to do - You gave me years of happiness - I love you.

Carole Ann,
I really have appreciated your being such a wonderful sister. We have had fights and quarrels, but we still love each other. Carole Ann, I may not act like it, but I am so proud of you. I, also, love Gerald. He is so good-looking and so are you. When I move and we are separated, I will write you all the time. When you come to see us, I am going to let you drive my "little hot-rod". I hope you don't get to home-sick when you move. I will always love you. I could write more — so I will. Please let me stay with you when you get settled. I hope you get everything you want - and hope you'll do Everything you want in the future. Please try to forgive me for some of the things I have done in the past. I will always love and respect you.

Linda
